

way to the office, telling each other what had happened wei tə di ɔfis, teliŋ i:tʃ ʌðə hwɔt həd hæpnd since they left the place of the accident. Marshall sins ðei left ðə pleis əv ði æksɪdənt. mɑ:ʃəl noticed that Storm used his handkerchief very often.

noutɪst ðət stɔ:m ju:zd hɪz hæŋkətʃɪf veri ɔ:fn.

"You seem to have got a rather bad cold." Storm:
"ju: si:m tə həv gɒt ə rɑ:ðə bəd kəʊld." stɔ:m:

"Yes, I got it last night, because I didn't put on my "jes, aɪ gɒt ɪt lɑ:st naɪt, bɪ'kɔz aɪ dɪdnt pʊt ɒn maɪ coat when I went out for a walk. And the fog to-day kəʊt hwɛn aɪ wɛnt aʊt fər ə wɔ:k. ænd ðə fɒg tə'deɪ has had a bad effect on my lungs and throat. Since həz həd ə bəd ɪfekt ɒn maɪ lʌŋz ænd θrəʊt. sɪns you left me, I've been sneezing on account of the dirty ju: left mi:, aɪv bi:n sni:zɪŋ ɒn ə'kaʊnt əv ðə dɜ:ti air passing through my nose, and I've been coughing, ɛə pɑ:sɪŋ θru: maɪ nəʊz, ænd aɪv bi:n kɔʃɪŋ, too, because of the fog that has got into my mouth tu:, bɪ'kɔz əv ðə fɒg ðət həz gɒt ɪntə maɪ maʊθ and my throat. It's extremely unpleasant to know that ænd maɪ θrəʊt. ɪts ɪks'tri:mli ʌn'pleznt tə nəʊ ðət every time you take a breath, your lungs get filled with evri taɪm ju: teɪk ə breθ, jɔ: lʌŋz get fɪld wɪð dirty yellow fog. I shall be glad when this fog lifts dɜ:ti jeləʊ fɒg. aɪ ʃəl bi: glæd hwɛn ðɪs fɒg lɪfts so that I can once more take a breath of real fresh səʊ ðət aɪ kən wʌns mɔ: teɪk ə breθ əv rɪəl freʃ air." Marshall: "We're used to it ourselves, but it's only εα. ma:ʃəl: "wɪə ju:st tu it auə'selvz, bət its ounli natural that you should find it very unpleasant. I'm nætʃərəl ðæt ju: ʃəd faɪnd it veri ʌn'pleznt. aɪm extremely sorry that your cold is so bad that you must iks'tri:mli sɔ:ri ðæt jɔ: kould ɪz sou bæd ðæt ju: məst spend most of your time with your handkerchief to spend moust əv jɔ: taɪm wɪð jɔ: hən'kətʃɪf tə your face, sneezing or coughing." jɔ: feɪs, sni:zɪŋ ɔ: kɔ:fɪŋ."

Storm: "So am I, but I hope it'll soon be over. — This stɔ:m: "sou əm aɪ, bət aɪ haʊp ɪtl su:n bi: ɒvə. — ðɪs accident that happened to the girl makes me think of æksɪdənt ðæt hæpnd tə ðə ɡɜ:l meɪks mi: ɪŋk əv another accident because of bad weather. It was one ə'nʌðər æksɪdənt bi'kɔ:z əv bæd weðə. ɪt wəz wʌn evening this summer when Mr. Miller, my friends, and i:vɪnɪŋ ðɪs sʌmə hwen mɪstə mɪlə, maɪ frendz, ənd

I were returning from a trip into the country. The aɪ wə: rɪ'tə:nɪŋ frəm ə trɪp ɪntə ðə kʌntri. ðə wind began to blow and the rain to fall, and there wɪnd bɪ'ɡæn tə bləʊ ənd ðə reɪn tə fɔ:l, ənd ðeə was a real storm. When the storm had lasted for some wəz ə riəl stɔ:m. hwen ðə stɔ:m həd lɑ:stɪd fə sʌm minutes, lightning was seen again and again, each time mɪnɪts, laɪtnɪŋ wəz si:n ə'geɪn ənd ə'geɪn, i:tʃ taɪm making the sky as bright as day. At the same time meɪkɪŋ ðə skaɪ əz braɪt əz deɪ. ət ðə seɪm taɪm lightning

settle = decide man (here) = all men

grave

religions about the true date of His birth. The Roman rɪ'lɪdʒənz ə'baʊt ðə tru: deɪt əv hɪz bæ:ʃ. ðə roumən

Catholic religion tells us it was at Christmas, and most kæθəlɪk rɪ'lɪdʒən telz ʌs ɪt wəz ət krɪsməs, ən moust

Protestants do the same, while other Protestants say prətɪstənts du: ðə seɪm, hwaɪl ʌðə prətɪstənts sei they can prove from the Bible that the birth of Christ ðei kən pru:v frəm ðə baɪbl ðæt ðə bæ:ʃ əv kraɪst took place in the autumn. I don't know whether the tʊk pleɪs ɪn ði ɔ:təm. aɪ daʊnt nou hwedə ðə question has been settled, but I do know that few kwestʃən həz bi:n setld, bət aɪ du: nou ðæt fju:

people at Christmas think of the account in the Bible pi:pl ət krɪsməs ɪŋk əv ði ə'kaʊnt ɪn ðə baɪbl of how Christ was sent from Heaven to live upon this əv haʊ kraɪst wəz sent frəm hevn tə liv ə'pɒn ðɪs earth of ours and teach people about God and God's ə:p əv aʊəz ən ti:tʃ pi:pl ə'baʊt ɡɒd ən ɡɒdz plans for man. What they think of for the most part plænz fə mæn. hwɒt ðei ɪŋk ɔv fə ðə moust pɑ:t is the good time they're going to have with their friends ɪz ðə ɡʊd taɪm ðeə ɡoʊɪŋ tə hæv wɪð ðeə frendz and family! — Well, after Christmas comes Easter — ən fæmɪli! — wel, ɑ:ftə krɪsməs kʌmz i:stə —

Good Friday, when Christ died, Easter Sunday, when ɡʊd fraɪdi, hwen kraɪst daɪd, i:stə sʌndi, hwen

He rose from the grave, and Easter Monday." "Excuse hi: rouz frəm ðə ɡreɪv, ənd i:stə mʌndi." "ɪks'kju:z tooth-brush

comb

tooth-paste

one tooth two teeth best," Marshall answered. "It's a pleasant town on best, ma:fəl a:nsəd. "its ə pləznt taun ɔn the south coast of England. We could stay the night ðə saʊθ kəʊst əv ɪŋɡlənd. wi: kəd stei ðə naɪt at one of the hotels and return on Sunday evening."

ət wʌn əv ðə haʊtəls ən rɪ'tə:n ɔn sʌndi i:vniŋ."

"Fine!" said Storm. "Let's hurry home from the "fain!" sed stɔ:m. "lets hʌri haʊm frəm ði office, then, without stopping for lunch at our usual ɔfis, ðen, wið'aʊt stɒpiŋ fə laʊf ət əʊə ju:ʒuəl place. Perhaps your mother will prepare a quick pleis. pə'hæps jɔ: mʌðə wil pri'peə ə kwɪk lunch for us at home while we throw a few things laʊf fə ʌs ət haʊm hwaɪl wi: θrəʊ ə fju: piŋz into a bag." "We shan't need much more than a intu ə bæɡ." "wi: ʃɑ:nt ni:d mʌʃ mɔ: ðən ə tooth-brush and a comb, so there won't be much to tu:þbrʌʃ ənd ə kəʊm, səʊ ðeə wəʊnt bi: mʌʃ tə pack. We'll have time enough before our train leaves."

pæk. wi:l hæv taɪm i'nʌf bi'fɔ:r əʊə treɪn li:vz."

"Speaking of tooth-brushes," Storm said, "I must "spi:kiŋ əv tu:þbrʌʃɪz," stɔ:m sed, "aɪ mʌst remember to buy some tooth-paste on the way home. rɪ'membə tə baɪ səm tu:þpeɪst ɔn ðə wei haʊm.

I noticed this morning, when I was brushing my teeth, aɪ nəʊtɪst ðɪs mɔ:niŋ, hwen aɪ wəz brʌʃɪŋ maɪ ti:θ, that I had used up all my tooth-paste. I think I'll try ðæt aɪ həd ju:zd ʌp ɔ:l maɪ tu:þpeɪst. aɪ piŋk aɪl traɪ a shop I've often noticed. It's only a short distance a ʃɒp aʊv ɔ:fən nəʊtɪst. ɪts ɔʊnli ə ʃɔ:t dɪstəns from the Underground station, you know, the one which fɹəm ði ʌndəgraʊnd steɪʃən, ju: nəʊ, ðə wʌn hʌvɪʃ has an unusually large sponge lying in the window. həz ən ənʻju:zʊəli lɑ:dʒ spʌndʒ laɪɪŋ ɪn ðə wɪndəʊ.

It must be fun to use a sponge as big as that in the ɪt mʌst bi: fʌn tə ju:z ə spʌndʒ əz bɪg əz ðæt ɪn ðə bath; you could almost wash the whole body with it bɑ:θ; ju: kəd ɔ:lməʊst wɒʃ ðə həʊl bɒdi wɪð ɪt at once. I saw some beautiful brushes there the other ət wʌns. aɪ sɔ: səm bju:təfʊl brʌʃɪz ðeə ði ʌðə day, too. I'd like to buy them for my sister. She takes deɪ, tu:. aɪd laɪk tə baɪ ðəm fə maɪ sɪstə. ʃi: teɪks a lot of trouble with her hair and brushes it carefully a lɒt əv trʌbl wɪð hə: heə ən brʌʃɪz ɪt keəfʊli morning and night; so those fine brushes would be just mɔ:nɪŋ ən naɪt; səʊ ðəʊz faɪn brʌʃɪz wəd bi: dʒʌst the thing for her, one for her hair and one to brush ðə ʃɪŋ fə hə:, wʌn fə hə: heə ən wʌn tə brʌʃ her clothes with. Perhaps there's a comb to go with hə: kləʊðz wɪð. pə'hæps ðəz ə kəʊm tə ɡəʊ wɪð them, too."

ðəm, tu:."

"Well, don't be too long about your shopping," Marshall

"wel, dəʊnt bi: tu: lɔŋ ə'baʊt jɔ: ʃɒpɪŋ," mɑ:ʃəl said. "I shall have to look for my bathing-costume.

sed. "aɪ ʃəl hæv tə lʊk fə maɪ beɪðɪŋkɒstjʊ:m.

take trouble with = work carefully with bathing-costume

bathing-drawers

My mother puts it away every winter, and never twice mai mæðə puts it ə'vei evri wintə, ən nevə twaɪs in the same place, so I can't be sure of finding it at ɪn ðə seɪm pleɪs, sɒ aɪ kæn't bi: suə əv faɪndɪŋ ɪt æt once."
 wʌns."

"Do you think it will be warm enough to bathe?" Storm
 "du: ju: θɪŋk ɪt wɪl bi: wɔ:m ɪ'nʌf tə beɪð?" stɔ:m asked. "Then I'll take my bathing-drawers, too." ɑ:skt. "ðen aɪl teɪk maɪ beɪðɪndrɔ:z, tu:."

"Bathing-drawers!" Marshall said. "Haven't you got "beɪðɪndrɔ:z!" mɑ:ʃəl sed. "hævnt ju: gɒt a bathing-costume? At one time you were not allowed ə beɪðɪŋkɔstju:m? æt wʌn taɪm ju: wə: nɒt ə'laʊd to use bathing-drawers, but nowadays it's perfectly all tə ju:z beɪðɪndrɔ:z, bʌt naʊədeɪz ɪts pə:fɪktli ɔ:l right of course. However, we English are funny in raɪt əv kɔ:s. haʊ'evə, wi: ɪŋglɪʃ a: fʌni ɪn many ways, you know. By some people bathingmeni weɪz, ju: nəʊ. baɪ sʌm pi:pl beɪðɪŋ-drawers are still regarded as not quite the thing for drɔ:z a: stɪl rɪ'ga:dɪd əz nɒt kwaɪt ðə θɪŋ fə bathing." "Well, I haven't got anything else, so I'll beɪðɪŋ." "wel, aɪ hævnt gɒt enɪθɪŋ els, sɒ aɪl have to take them along," Storm answered. hæv tə teɪk ðəm ə'lɔŋ." stɔ:m ɑ:nsəd.

Two hours later the two young men were sitting in tu: aʊəz leɪtə ðə tu: jʌŋ men wə: sɪtɪŋ ɪn in the distance = far away

live in the country, May always makes me wish to liv in ðə kʌntri, mei ɔ:lwəs meiks mi: wiʃ tə spend the summer in the country, to see the corn spend ðə sʌməɹ in ðə kʌntri, tə si: ðə kɔ:n standing green in the fields and the cows happy in stændiŋ gri:n in ðə fi:ldz ən ðə kaʊz hæpi in lovely deep grass."
lʌvli di:p gra:s."

"I quite understand how you feel," Storm replied, "and
"ai kwait ʌndə'stænd hau ju: fi:l," stɔ:m ri'plaid, "ænd I'm glad we came by bus. I'm really seeing the country aim glæd wi: keim bai bʌs. aim riəli si:iŋ ðə kʌntri this way. Look, Marshall," he continued, "isn't that ðis wei. luk, ma:fəl," hi: kən'tinju:d, "iznt ðæt a windmill we can see in the distance?" "Yes, it is," a windmil wi: kən si: in ðə distəns?" "jes, it iz."

Marshall replied. "We still have a few left, although ma:fəl ri'plaid. "wi: stil hæv ə fju: left, ɔ:l'dəu in most places factories have taken over the work of in moust pleisiz fæktəriz hæv teikn ouvə ðə wɜ:k əv making corn into flour, which the windmills used to do. meikiŋ kɔ:n intə flauə, hwi:f ðə windmilz ju:st tə du:.

Factories can make flour cheaper, I suppose. And as fæktəriz kən meik flauə tʃi:pə, ai sə'pəʊz. ənd əz bread is such a large part of the nation's food, it's bred iz sʌtʃ ə la:dʒ pɑ:t əv ðə neɪʃənz fu:d, its important, of course, that flour should be cheap." im'pɔ:tənt, əv kɔ:s, ðæt flauə ʃəd bi: tʃi:p."

"What a lot of work must be done to the corn," Storm
"hʌʊt ə lɒt əv wə:k mʌst bi: dʌn tə ðə kɔ:n," stɔ:m said as he looked out over the fields, "in the course of sed əz hi: lʊkt aʊt oʊvə ðə fi:ldz, "in ðə kɔ:s əv the months from the time when the farmer puts the ðə mʌnθs frəm ðə taɪm hʌvən ðə fɑ:mə pʊts ðə plough into the ground in spring until we put the bread plau intə ðə graʊnd ɪn sprɪŋ ʌn'tɪl wi: pʊt ðə bred on our tables! When the ground has been broken by ɒn ʌʊə teɪblz! hʌvən ðə graʊnd hʌz bi:n brəʊkn baɪ the plough, the seed is put in, and then after five or ðə plau, ðə si:d ɪz pʊt ɪn, ən ðen ɑ:ftə faɪv ə six months the corn is ready to be taken to the mills, sɪks mʌnθs ðə kɔ:n ɪz redi tə bi: teɪkn tə ðə mɪlz.

or factories, to be made into flour, and at last it is ɔ: fæk'tɔ:ɪz, tə bi: meɪd intə flauə, ənd ət lɑ:st ɪt ɪs made into bread. When the corn has been taken to the meɪd intə bred. hʌvən ðə kɔ:n hʌz bi:n teɪkn tə ðə mills, there is still something left of the plant, which mɪlz, ðəz stɪl sʌmθɪŋ left əv ðə plɑ:nt, hweɪtʃ is used for the animals during the winter. Not all the ɪz ju:zd fə ði ænɪməlz dʒuəriŋ ðə wɪntə. nɒt ɔ:l ðə corn is sent to the mills; some of it is used for next kɔ:n ɪz sent tə ðə mɪlz; sʌm əv ɪt ɪz ju:zd fə neks year's seed."

jiəz si:d."

"Yes," Marshall replied. "In town you usually don't "jes," mɑ:səl rɪ'plaɪd. "ɪn taʊn ju: ju:ʒuəli daʊnt was to order tea.

wəz tu ɔ:də ti:.

"I'll take mine with lemon to-day," Storm said. "I like
"aɪ teɪk maɪn wɪð lemən tə'deɪ," stɔ:m sed. "aɪ laɪk it best that way when I'm hot and thirsty. Won't you ɪt best ðæt weɪ hʌvən aɪm hɒt ən ʰə:sti. wəʊnt ju:

try it, too, Marshall? You won't regret it." "Yes, I'll traɪ ɪt, tu:, mɑ:fəl? ju: wəʊnt rɪ'ɡret ɪt." "jes, aɪ take lemon in my tea, too, for once," Marshall replied. teɪk lemən ɪn maɪ ti:, tu:, fə wʌns," mɑ:fəl rɪ'plaɪd.

"But I'll have to take at least three lumps of sugar
"bʌt aɪ hæv tə teɪk ət li:st ʰri: lʌmps əv fʊɡə to make it sweet enough. Oh, I say, Storm, look at that tə meɪk ɪt swi:t ɪ'nʌf. ou, aɪ sei, stɔ:m, lʊk ət ðæt little dog, over there! He's looking at our sugar as if lɪtl dɒɡ, oʊvə ðeə! hi:s lʊkiŋ ət ʌʊə fʊɡə əz ɪf we'd taken it from him. We'll have to give him a lump wɪ:d teɪkən ɪt frəm hɪm. wi:l hæv tə ɡɪv hɪm ə lʌmp of sugar. He doesn't look as if he belongs to anybody əv fʊɡə. hi: dʌznt lʊk əz ɪf hi: bɪ'lɒŋz tə enɪbɒdi here; he must have come here by himself."

hiə; hi: məst hæv kʌm hɪə baɪ hɪm'self."

While they were having tea, a band started playing hwaɪl ðeɪ wə: hævɪŋ ti:, ə bænd stɑ:tɪd pleɪɪŋ in the restaurant. "Do people dance here in the afterɪn ðə restərɔ:ŋ. "du: pi:pl dɑ:ns hɪə ɪn ðɪ ɑ:ftə-noons?" Storm asked, noticing that they were playing 'nu:nz?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt, nəʊtɪsɪŋ ðæt ðeɪ wə: pleɪɪŋ by himself = alone soft seats to sit on, instead of hard seats of wood. At soft si:ts tə sit ɒn, in'sted əv ha:d si:ts əv wud. ət many stations we can buy a cup of tea, take it along meni steifənz wi: kən bai ə kʌp əv ti:, teik it ə'lɔŋ in the train, and leave the empty cup at another station. in ðə treɪn, ən li:v ði ɛmti kʌp ət ə'nʌðə steɪʃən.

In one or two trains running between London and in wʌn ə tu: treɪnz rʌniŋ bi'twi:n lʌndən ən

Brighton, they have special carriages with typewriters braɪtn, ðei hæv speʃəl kærɪdʒɪz wið taɪpraɪtəz for business men and their secretaries." fə bɪznɪs mən ən ðeə sekrətɪz."

"I see that your railways differ very much from those
"aɪ si: ðæt jɔ: reɪlweɪz dɪfə veri mʌʃ frəm ðəʊz in my country," Storm said. "At home, there is, for in maɪ kʌntri," stɔ:m sed. "ət hoʊm, ðər ɪz, fər instance, a great difference between first and third ɪnstəns, ə greɪt dɪfrəns bi'twi:n fə:st ən þə:d class carriages. The first class carriages, of course, kla:s kærɪdʒɪz. ðə fə:st kla:s kærɪdʒɪz, əv kɔ:s, have soft seats, but many third class carriages still hæv soft si:ts, bʌt meni þə:d kla:s kærɪdʒɪz stɪl have hard wooden seats. And typewriters! I'm sure hæv ha:d wudn si:ts. ən taɪpraɪtəz! aɪm suə nobody ever thought of having typewriters for business nʊbədi evə þɔ:t əv hævɪŋ taɪpraɪtəz fə bɪznɪs men in our trains."

mən in ʌʊə treɪnz."

wood = what chairs and tables are made of typewriter wooden = made of wood

rails

"There's another difference which I'm almost sure you
 "ðæz ə'nʌðə dɪfrəns hwiɪf aɪm ɔ:lmoʊst suə ju:

have noticed," Marshall said. "Our carriages are a hæv noutɪst," mɑ:fəl sed. "auə kærɪdʒɪz a:r ə little narrower than those used on the Continent, lɪtl nærouə ðən ðəʊz ju:zɪd ɔn ðə kɒntɪnənt, although the space between the rails isn't narrower.

 ɔ:l'ðəʊ ðə speɪs bɪ'twi:n ðə reɪlz ɪznt nærouə.

With narrower carriages running on the rails, it means wɪð nærouə kærɪdʒɪz rʌnɪŋ ɔn ðə reɪlz, ɪt mi:nz that trains can go much faster. You will remember ðæt treɪnz kən ɡəʊ mʌtʃ fɑ:stə. ju: wɪl rɪ'membə that we Englishmen built the first railways. That is ðæt wi: ɪŋɡlɪʃmən bɪlt ðə fɜ:st reɪlweɪz. ðæt ɪz to say, already more than two thousand years ago the tə sei, ɔ:l'reɪdɪ mɔ: ðən tu: haʊzənd jɪəz ə'ɡəʊ ðə

Romans knew how to use rails of stone or wood for ɾəʊmənz nju: haʊ tə ju:z reɪlz əv stəʊn ɔ: wʊd fə the transport of heavy objects. But it was in England ðə trænspɔ:t əv hevi ɔbdʒɪkts. bət ɪt wəz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd that the first modern railway was opened, with a real ðæt ðə fɜ:st mɒdən reɪlweɪ wəz ɒʊpənd, wɪð ə riəl engine that was moved forward by steam. At first ɛndʒɪn ðæt wəz mu:vɪd fɔ:wəd baɪ sti:m. ət fɜ:st people were afraid of these engines with steam coming pi:pl wə:r ə'freɪd əv ði:z ɛndʒɪnz wɪð sti:m kʌmɪŋ out of them. They thought that the engines weren't aʊt əv ðəm. ðeɪ θɔ:t ðæt ði ɛndʒɪnz wə:nt engine

steam

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

Storm's special work for Mr. Edwards made it necessary stɔ:mz spɛʃəl wə:k fə mistər edwədz meɪd ɪt nesɪsəri for him to spend many evenings at the manager's house. fə hɪm tə spend mæni i:vniŋz ət ðə mænɪdʒəz haʊs.

When work was finished on these nights, Mrs. Edwards hwen wə:k wəz fɪnɪʃt ɔn ði:z naɪts mɪsɪz edwədz and Marion usually laid the tea-table, and they all had ænd mæriən ju:ʒuəli leɪd ðə ti:teɪbl, ənd ðeɪ ɔ:l həd a cup of tea together.

ə kʌp əv ti: tə'geðə.

In this way it was not long before the two young people ɪn ðɪs weɪ ɪt wəz nɒt lɒŋ bɪ'fɔ: ðə tu: jʌŋ pi:pl had become great friends. They went about together həd bɪ'kʌm greɪt frendz. ðeɪ went ə'baʊt tə'geðə quite a lot, to restaurants now and then, to see a picture, kwaɪt ə lɒt, tə restərɔ:ŋz naʊ ənd ðen, tə si: ə pɪktʃə, or on small trips to places outside London.

ɔ:r ɔn smɔ:l trips tə pleɪsɪz aʊtsaɪd lʌndən.

On the Sunday following the trip to Brighton, Marion ɔn ðə sʌndi fɔ'louɪŋ ðə trip tə braɪtn, mæriən had agreed to go with Storm to spend a day in the həd ə'ɡri:d tə ɡoʊ wɪð stɔ:m tə spend ə ðeɪ ɪn ðə hills south of London. London itself is mostly built hɪlz saʊθ əv lʌndən. lʌndən ɪt'self ɪz maʊstli bɪlt car that was standing in the road. "That was a near ka: ðæt wəz stændɪŋ ɪn ðə roud. "ðæt wəz ə nɪə thing," Marion said. "If the driver hadn't been so ʃɪŋ. mæriən sed. "ɪf ðə draɪvə hædnt bi:n sou quick in using the brakes and stopping the bus, there kwɪk ɪn ju:zɪŋ ðə breɪks ən stɒpɪŋ ðə bʌs, ðeə would no doubt have been an accident. Look at the wəd nou daʊt hæv bi:n ən æksɪdənt. luk æt ðə cloud of dust that the wheels made!" klaʊd əv dʌst ðæt ðə hwi:lz meɪd!"

"This is one of the new buses with brakes both on the "ðɪs ɪz wʌn əv ðə nju: bʌsɪz wɪð breɪks boʊp ɒn ðə front wheels and on the back wheels; that's why she frʌnt hwi:lz and ɒn ðə bæk hwi:lz; ðæts hwaɪ ʃi: was able to stop so quickly when I put the brakes on," wəz eɪbl tə stɒp sou kwɪkli hwən aɪ pʊt ðə breɪks ɒn," the driver said proudly, as he started the bus again. ðə draɪvə sed praʊdli, əz hi: stɑ:tɪd ðə bʌs ə'geɪn.

"If it had been one of the old ones," he continued,
"ɪf ɪt hæd bi:n wʌn əv ði ould wʌnz," hi: kən'tɪnju:d.

"I'm afraid we should now all have been lying in the "aɪm ə'freɪd wi: ʃəd naʊ ɔ:l hæv bi:n laɪɪŋ ɪn ðə dirty water in the ditch at the side of the road — bus, dɑ:ti wɔ:tər ɪn ðə dɪtʃ æt ðə saɪd əv ðə roud — bʌs, passengers, car, and all, and this just because some pæsɪndʒəz, kɑ:, and ɔ:l, ən ðɪs dʒʌst bɪ'kəʊz sʌm farmer leaves his car in such a foolish place as a curve fɑ:mə li:vz hɪz kɑ:r ɪn sʌtʃ ə fu:lɪʃ pleɪs əz ə kə:v

wheel

she = the bus

ditch

suggest that first of all we walk over to that farm and sə'dʒest ðæt fə:st əv ɔ:l wi: wɔ:k oʊvə tə ðæt fɑ:m ən have a cup of tea to wash away the dust from our hæv ə kʌp əv ti: tə wɔʃ ə'wei ðə dʌst frəm ʌʊ throats before we start on our walk. It hasn't rained prəʊts bi'fɔ: wi: stɑ:t ɔn ʌʊ wɔ:k. it hæznt reɪnd for two weeks, so there must have been at least an fə tu: wi:ks, sɔu ðeə mʌst hæv bi:n ət li:st ən inch of dust on the road for the wheels of the bus to ɪnf əv dʌst ɔn ðə rəʊd fə ðə hwi:lz əv ðə bʌs tə send flying in clouds." "Did you say tea at the farm?"

send flaɪɪŋ ɪn klaʊdz." "dɪd ju: sei ti: ət ðə fɑ:m?"

Storm asked. "Yes, in many places in the country stɔ:m ɑ:skt. "jes, ɪn menɪ pleɪsɪz ɪn ðə kʌntri where tourists come," she answered, "the farmers' wives hwɛə tuəɪsts kʌm," ʃi: ɑ:nsəd, "ðə fɑ:məz waɪvz serve tea with home-made bread and cake, and they sə:v ti: wɪð haʊmmeɪd bred ən keɪk, ən ðeɪ do so here, too."

du: sɔu hiə, tu:."

The farm-house was a long, low building made of red ðə 'fɑ:m'haʊs wəz ə lɔŋ, ləʊ bɪldɪŋ meɪd əv red brick. At one side there was a building for the animals, bri:k. ət wʌn saɪd ðeə wəz ə bɪldɪŋ fə ði ænɪməlz, also of red brick, and at the other side was a nice ɔ:lsoʊ əv red bri:k, ənd ət ði ʌðə saɪd wəz ə naɪs garden, surrounded by a wooden fence, where tea was ɡɑ:dn, sə'raʊndɪd baɪ ə wʊdn fens, hwɛə ti: wəz brick

fence

served. "I wonder where the gate is in this fence?"
sə:vd. "ai wʌndə hwɛə ðə geit iz in ðis fens?"

Marion said, as they walked along the side of the məriən sed, əz ðei wɔ:kt ə'laɪ ðə said əv ðə garden towards the house. "There must be some way ga:dn tə'wɔ:dz ðə haus. "ðeə mʌst bi: sʌm wei of getting into the garden." əv getɪŋ ɪntə ðə ga:dn."

Not until they came all the way up to the farm-house, nɒt ʌn'tɪl ðei keɪm ɔ:l ðə wei ʌp tə ðə 'fɑ:m'haus, did they find the gate. Just as they were going to dɪd ðei faɪnd ðə geit. dʒʌst əz ðei wə: ɡoʊɪŋ tu open it, the farmer's wife came out with a basket full əʊpən ɪt, ðə fɑ:məz waɪf keɪm aʊt wɪð ə bɑ:skɪt fʊl of corn and started feeding the corn to the fowls əv kɔ:n ənd stɑ:tɪd fi:dɪŋ ðə kɔ:n tə ðə faʊlz running about in front of the house. When she called, rʌnɪŋ ə'bʌt ɪn frʌnt əv ðə haus. hwen ʃi: kɔ:ld, they hurried up to her as fast as their legs and their ðei harɪd ʌp tə hɜ: əz fɑ:st əz ðeə legz ənd ðeə wings would carry them. One little brown hen wɪŋz wəd kəri ðəm. wʌn lɪtl braʊn hen especially seemed to be very hungry; it tried to fly ɪs'peʃəli si:md tə bi: veri haŋɡri; ɪt traɪd tə flɑɪ up to the basket to get as near to the corn as possible.

ʌp tə ðə bɑ:skɪt tə get əz niə tə ðə kɔ:n əz pɒsəbl.

There were several kinds of fowls, and among them ðeə wə: sevərəl kaɪndz əv faʊlz, ənd ə'mʌŋ ðəm they also saw a turkey. "Look at that funny fellow ðei ɔ:lsou sɔ: ə tə:ki. "luk ət ðæt fʌni felou over there," Marion said. "He looks as if he owned oʊvə ðeə," mə:riən sed. "hi: luks əz ɪf hi: ɔund the whole place — so proud. And then he's going ðə houl pleɪs — sou praʊd. ən ðen hi:z ɡoʊɪŋ to end his life on somebody's Christmas table, no doubt. tu end hi:z laɪf ɒn səmbədɪz krɪsməs teɪbl, nou daʊt.

Listen to the strange noise he's making. Isn't he funny?
lɪsn tə ðə streɪndʒ nəɪz hi:z meɪkɪŋ. ɪznt hi: fʌni?

I must always laugh when I see turkeys; they look aɪ mʌst ɔ:lweɪz lɑ:f hwɛn aɪ si: tə:kɪz; ðei luk so much like little old, foolish, proud men." sou mʌtʃ laɪk lɪtl ould, fu:lɪʃ, praʊd mɛn."

"Good afternoon," she said to the farmer's wife, who
"ɡʊd ˈɑ:ftəˈnu:n," ʃi: sed tə ðə fɑ:məz ˈwaɪf, hu:

had now finished feeding the fowls. "Could you make həd naʊ fɪnɪʃt fi:dɪŋ ðə faʊls. "kəd ju: meɪk us a cup of tea?" "Yes, certainly," the woman ʌs ə kʌp əv ti:?" "jes. sə:tɪnli," ðə wʊmən answered. "If you'll go into the garden and wait, it ɑ:nsəd. "ɪf ju:l ɡoʊ ɪntə ðə ɡɑ:dən ən weɪt. ɪt will be ready in a few minutes." "Fine! But might wɪl bi: redi ɪn ə fju: mɪnɪts." "faɪn! bət maɪt

I look about a bit while we're waiting?" Storm asked.
aɪ luk əˈbaʊt ə bɪt hwəɪl wɪə weɪtɪŋ?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt.

"You see, I've never visited an English farm before,
"ju: si:, aɪv nəvə vɪzɪtɪd ən ɪŋɡlɪʃ fɑ:m bɪˈfɔ:, pig

fat = the opposite of thin and I'm interested in seeing whether there's much ənd aɪm ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn siːɪŋ hweðə ðəz mʌtʃ difference between your farms and the farms of the dɪfrəns bi'twiːn jɔː fɑːmz ən ðə fɑːmz əv ðə country that I come from." "Certainly! Look about kʌntri ðət aɪ kʌm frɒm." "səːtnli! lʊk ə'baʊt as much as you like. But be careful when you go over əz mʌtʃ əz juː laɪk. bət biː keəfʊl hwen juː ɡoʊ oʊvə to the animals, for we've got a young pig running tə ði ænɪməlz, fə wiːv ɡɒt ə jʌŋ piɡ rʌnɪŋ about loose, and he might brush against your clothes. ə'baʊt luːs, ən hiː maɪt brʌʃ ə'geɪnst jɔː kləʊðz.

Pigs, you know, aren't always so clean. He really piɡz, juː nəʊ, aːnt ɔːlwəz sɒ kliːn. hiː riəli shouldn't be loose any longer, but ought to be shut ʃʊdn̩t biː luːs eni lɒŋɡə, bət ɔːt tə biː ʃʌt up with the other pigs — you can see the five fat pigs ʌp wið ði ʌðə piɡz — juː kən siː ðə faɪv fæt piɡz in there. He runs about so much that he doesn't grow ɪn ðeə. hiː rʌnz ə'baʊt sɒ mʌtʃ ðət hiː dʌznt ɡrəʊ fat like the others. He's such a funny little pig, putting fæt laɪk ði ʌðəz. hiːz sʌtʃ ə fʌni lɪtl piɡ. pʊtɪŋ his nose into everything to see what it is, and the hɪz nəʊz ɪntu evriθɪŋ tə siː hwɒt ɪt ɪz, ən ðə children have such a good time playing with him that tʃɪldrən hæv sʌtʃ ə ɡʊd taɪm pleɪɪŋ wið hɪm ðət my husband hasn't had the heart to shut him up with maɪ hʌzbənd hæznt hæd ðə hɑːt tə ʃʌt hɪm ʌp wið the others yet. But you can see for yourselves that ði ʌðəz jət. bət ju: kən si: fə ʃɔ:ˈselvz ðət he's much too thin; by now, he ought to be almost hi:z mʌtʃ tu: ʃin; baɪ naʊ, hi: ɔ:t tə bi: ɔ:lmoʊst twice as fat! Well," she continued, picking up two tuwaɪs əz fæt! wel," ʃi: kənˈtɪnju:d, ˈpɪkɪŋ ʌp tu:

empty buckets that were standing outside the kitchen empti ˈbʌkɪts ðət wə: stændɪŋ aʊtsaɪd ðə kɪtʃɪn door, "I'd better go to the pump now and get the dɔ:. ˈaɪd betə ɡoʊ tə ðə pʌmp naʊ ən get ðə water for your tea."

wɔ:tə fə ʃɔ: ti:."

"Aren't the buckets heavy for you to carry?" Marion ˈɑ:nt ðə ˈbʌkɪts hevi fə ju: tə kæri?" məˈrɪən asked. "No, that's nothing to speak of. But in my ɑ:skt. ˈnoʊ, ðætʃ nʌʃɪŋ tə spi:k ɔv. bət ɪn maɪ grandmother's time the work of a farmer's wife was ɡrændmʌðəz taɪm ðə wɜ:k əv ə fɑ:məz waɪf wəz hard. They didn't have a pump at the farm then, hɑ:d. ðeɪ dɪdnt hæv ə pʌmp ət ðə fɑ:m ðen, but had to walk quite a long distance to a small bət həd tə wɜ:k kwaɪt ə lɔŋ dɪstəns tu ə smɔ:l brook to get water. Of course, the water in a brook brʊk tə get wɔ:tə. ɔv kɔ:s, ðə wɔ:tər ɪn ə brʊk coming down from the hills is always very fine, but kʌmɪŋ daʊn frəm ðə hɪlz ɪz ɔ:lweɪz veri faɪn, bət it really was too far to go to get water. If you're ɪt riəli wəz tu: fɑ: tə ɡoʊ tə get wɔ:tə. ɪf juə bucket

brook

pump

around = about a bit = a short time

oak

He spreads, he spread, he has spread [spredz, spred, spred].

going up Leith Hill, you will cross the brook on your gouɪŋ ʌp li:h hil, ju: wil krɒs ðə bruk ɔn jɔ:

way up. The path from here to the top of the hill wei ʌp. ðə pɑ:h frəm hiə tə ðə tɒp əv ðə hil passes the brook at a place where the brook is so pɑ:sɪz ðə bruk ət ə pleɪs hʌwɛə ðə bruk ɪz sou narrow that you can cross it in one step." "Isn't nərou ðæt ju: kæn krɒs ɪt ɪn wʌn step." "ɪznt there a road up the hill from the main road?" Storm ðər ə roud ʌp ðə hil frəm ðə meɪn roud?" stɔ:m asked. "Yes," she answered, "but you had better go ɑ:skt. "jes," ʃi: ɑ:nsəd, "bət ju: həd betə ɡoʊ by the path through the wood. It's a much nicer baɪ ðə pɑ:h θru: ðə wud. ɪts ə mʌtʃ naɪsə way and not so full of dust as the road." After wei ən nɒt sou ful əv dʌst əz ðə roud." ɑ:ftə having looked around for a bit, Marion and Storm hæviŋ lʊkt ə'raʊnd fər ə bɪt, məriən ənd stɔ:m went into the garden to have their tea. The garden wɛnt ɪntə ðə ɡɑ:dən tə hæv ðeə ti:. ðə ɡɑ:dən was small and well kept, with three or four tables wəz smɔ:l ənd wel kept, wɪð θri: ə fɔ: teɪblz for the guests. They chose a table in the corner, fɔ ðə ɡests. ðeɪ tʃoʊz ə teɪbl ɪn ðə kɔ:nə, under a very large old oak tree. The old oak spread ʌndər ə veri la:dʒ ould oʊk tri:. ði ould oʊk spred its branches far out on all sides and gave a lovely, ɪts brɑ:nʃɪz fɑ:r aʊt ɔn ɔ:l saɪdɪz ənd ɡeɪv ə lʌvli, cool shade for them to sit in. In the leaves and the ku:l feid fə ðəm tə sit in. in ðə li:vz ənd ðə branches above their heads they saw birds busily flying bra:nfɪz ə'baʊ ðə hedz ðei sɔ: bæ:dz bizili flaiɪŋ in and out, and some of them flew away to return a in ənd aʊt, ənd sʌm əv ðəm flu: ə'wei tə rɪ'tə:n ə little later with food for their young.

lɪtl leɪtə wið fu:d fə ðə jʌŋ.

“Look there, on that branch over there,” Marion said.

“lʊk ðə, ɔn ðæt bra:nʃ ɔʊvə ðə,“ mæriən sed.

— “No, not so high up, just above the fence. There’s — “nəʊ, nɒt sɔʊ haɪ ʌp, dʒʌst ə'baʊ ðə fens. ðəz a nest there; I wonder if there are young birds in it?”

ə nest ðə; ai wʌndə ɪf ðə jʌŋ bæ:dz in it?”

“No, but there’s a bird sitting on eggs, I think,” Storm

“nəʊ, bʌt ðəz ə bæ:d sɪtɪŋ ɔn eɡz, ai ʃɪŋk,” stɔ:m replied. “And that busy little fellow coming now rɪ'plaɪd. “ən ðæt bɪzi lɪtl feləʊ kʌmɪŋ nəʊ seems to be carrying food to her. Listen to him, sɪmz tə bi: kæriɪŋ fu:d tu hə:. lɪsn tə him.

singing out to all the world what a clever fellow he sɪŋɪŋ aʊt tu ɔ:l ðə wɜ:ld hʌv ə klevə feləʊ hi:

is!” “Do you think that is what he’s doing?” Marion ɪz!” “du: ju: ʃɪŋk ðæt ɪz hʌv hi:z du:ɪŋ?” mæriən asked. “Well, perhaps you’re right. Now, I thought ɑ:skt. “wel, pə'hæps juə raɪt. nəʊ, ai þɔ:t he was being the little gentleman, singing to keep her hi: wəz bi:ɪŋ ðə lɪtl dʒentlmən. sɪŋɪŋ tə ki:p hə:

nest

of her when she comes for her money! You did bring ʊ hæ: hwen ʃi: kəmɪz fə hæ: mʌni! ju: did briŋ your camera along, didn't you?"

jɔ: kəmərə ə'ləŋ, didnt ju:?"

"Yes, I've got the camera here in my pocket. I'm "jes, aɪv ɡɒt ðə kəmərə hiə in maɪ pɒkɪt. aɪm going to try to get a picture of one of the bees, too, ɡoʊɪŋ tə traɪ tə ɡet ə pɪktʃər əv wʌn əv ðə bi:z, tu:, that are flying round these flowers all the time. If ðæt a: flaɪɪŋ raʊnd ði:z flauəz ɔ:l ðə taɪm. ɪf

I could get very near to a bee, it would make an aɪ kəd ɡet veri niə tu ə bi:, ɪt wəd meɪk ən interesting picture, I think. I'd like one of the bird, ɪntrɪstɪŋ pɪktʃə, aɪ ɪŋk. aɪd laɪk wʌn əv ðə bɜ:d, too, just when he's spreading his wings to fly. But tu:, dʒʌst hwen hi:z spreɪdɪŋ hɪz wɪŋz tə flaɪ. bət a picture like that will be hard to get, I'm afraid; they ə pɪktʃə laɪk ðæt wɪl bi: ha:d tə ɡet, aɪm ə'freɪd; ðeɪ move their wings so quickly. — And when we have mu:v ðeə wɪŋz sɔʊ kwɪkli. — ən hwen wi: hæv mounted to the top of the hill, I'm going to take a maʊntɪd tə ðə tɒp əv ðə hɪl, aɪm ɡoʊɪŋ tə teɪk ə picture of you, too, with your pretty head against the pɪktʃər əv ju:, tu:, wɪð jɔ: prɪti hed ə'ɡeɪnst ðə blue sky."

blu: skai."

"Don't be foolish!" Marion laughed. "You had better
"dʌnt bi: fu:lɪʃ!" mæriən la:ft. "ju: həd betə camera

bee

do try = please try take a picture of the river Thames flowing quietly teik ə pɪktʃər əv ðə rɪvə tɛmz flouɪŋ kwaɪətli towards London down in the bottom of its valley.

tə'wɔːdz lʌndən daʊn ɪn ðə bɒtəm əv ɪts væli.

That's something worth seeing." "I can see rivers that ðætɪz sʌmθɪŋ wɜːθ siːɪŋ." "aɪ kən siː rɪvəz ðæt flow through valleys wherever there are hills and rivers flou θruː væliːz hʊeə'rɛvə ðɛə hɪlz ən rɪvəz in the world, but I don't know how often I may see ɪn ðə wɜːld, bʌt aɪ daʊnt nəʊ haʊ ɔːfən aɪ meɪ siː your sweet face yet," Storm replied. "Don't say such jɔː swiːt feɪs jət," stɔːm rɪ'plaid. "daʊnt seɪ sʌtʃ things; the farmer's wife might hear you. Look, she's θɪŋz; ðə fɑːməz wɪf maɪt hiə juː. lʊk. ʃiːz laughing at us," Marion said, trying not to smile. "No, ləːfɪŋ æt əs," məriən sed, traɪɪŋ nɒt tə smaɪl. "nəʊ, she isn't," Storm answered, "she's smiling kindly at us.

ʃiː ɪznt," stɔːm ɑːnsəd, "ʃiːz smaɪlɪŋ kaɪndli æt əs.

'All the world loves a lover,' you know. She's seen
'ɔːl ðə wɜːld lʌvz ə lʌvə.' juː nəʊ. ʃiːz siːn long ago how I feel about you. — Now, do try to be lɒŋ ə'gəʊ haʊ aɪ fiːl ə'baut juː. — naʊ, duː traɪ tə biː serious, Marion, just for a few minutes while I tell you sɪəriəs, məriən, dʒʌst fɜː ə fjuː mɪnɪts hwaɪl aɪ tel juː about this." "But I don't want to be serious now, not ə'baut ðɪs." "bʌt aɪ daʊnt wɒnt tə biː sɪəriəs naʊ, nɒt with people standing about, looking at us, at least," wɪð piːpl stændɪŋ ə'baut, lʊkɪŋ æt əs, æt liːst," branches, hoping to find her there. "Call again," he bra:nfɪz, houpɪŋ tə faɪnd hæ: ðəə. "kɔ:l ə'geɪn," hi:

cried, and this time he could hear that her voice came kraɪd, ənd ðɪs taɪm hi: kəd hiə ðæt. hæ: vɔɪs keɪm from one of the big old oaks standing by the path. She fɾəm wʌn əv ðə bɪg ould ouks stændɪŋ baɪ ðə pa:θ. ʃi:

had found a hole in a hollow tree, big enough for her həd faʊnd ə haʊl ɪn ə hɒləʊ tri:, bɪg ɪ'nʌf fə hæ:

to get in through. When he found her, he saw that tə get ɪn θru:. hwen hi: faʊnd hæ:, hi: sɔ: ðæt there was almost room enough inside the hollow tree ðəə wəz ɔ:lmoʊst ru:m ɪ'nʌf ɪnsaɪd ðə hɒləʊ tri:

for six people, or for two armchairs, as Marion suggested.
fə sɪks pi:pl, ɔ: fə tu: 'ɑ:m'tʃeəz, əz mə'riən sə'dʒestɪd.

"But now comes the difficult part of it," Marion said.
"bət naʊ kʌmz ðə dɪfɪkəlt pɑ:t əv ɪt," mə'riən sed.

"How am I going to get out of here again? When I "haʊ əm ɪ gaʊɪŋ tə get aʊt əv hɪə ə'geɪn? hwen ɪ was standing outside, I could reach a branch above the wəz stændɪŋ aʊt'saɪd, ɪ kəd ri:tʃ ə brɑ:nʃ ə'bʌv ðə hole, but when I had got in, I found that the bottom haʊl, bət hwen ɪ həd gɒt ɪn, ɪ faʊnd ðæt ðə bɒtəm of the hole inside the tree was deeper than I thought.

əv ðə haʊl ɪnsaɪd ðə tri: wəz di:pə ðən ɪ θɔ:t.

I shouldn't like to get a hole in my new frock, getting ɪ ʃʊdn't laɪk tə get ə haʊl ɪn maɪ nju: frɒk, getɪŋ out. Will you help me, please?" she asked.

aʊt. wɪl ju: help mi:, pli:z?" ʃi: ɑ:skt.

hollow tree, and arm in arm they continued up the hɒləʊ tri:, ənd a:m in a:m ðei kən'tɪnju:d ʌp ðə hill. A little higher up, they came to the brook that
hɪl. ə lɪtl haɪər ʌp, ðei keɪm tə ðə brʊk ðət the farmer's wife had spoken of. Here some of the ðə fɑ:məz wʌɪf həd spəʊkn ɔv. hɪə sʌm əv ðə roots of the trees were above the ground, and in some ru:ts əv ðə tri:z wə:r ə'bʌv ðə graʊnd, ənd in sʌm places the water of the brook had washed the earth pleɪsɪz ðə wɔ:tər əv ðə brʊk həd wɒʃt ði ɜ:p away round the roots, so that they lay like brown, wet ə'weɪ raʊnd ðə ru:ts, sɔ θət ðei leɪ laɪk braʊn, wet snakes on the ground. "Let me help you to jump sneɪks ɔn ðə graʊnd. "let mi: help ju: tə dʒʌmp across," Storm said to Marion. "It's a little wider here ə'krɒs," stɔ:m sed tə məɪriən. "ɪts ə lɪtl waɪdə hɪə than I thought, and I'm afraid that your feet will slip ðən aɪ þɔ:t, ənd aɪm ə'freɪd ðət jɔ: fi:t wɪl slɪp on the wet stones." She took Storm's hand, and it ɔn ðə wet stəʊnz." ʃi: tuk stɔ:mz hænd, ənd ɪt was a good thing that she did, for just as she was wəz ə gʊd þɪŋ ðət ʃi: dɪd, fə dʒʌst əz ʃi: wəz going to jump, her foot slipped, and she would have ɡoʊɪŋ tə dʒʌmp, hɜ: fʊt slɪpt, ənd ʃi: wəd həv fallen if he had not supported her. fɔ:lɪn ɪf hi: həd nɒt sə'pɔ:tɪd hə:.

At last they reached the top of the hill, where the ət la:st ðei ri:tʃt ðə tɒp əv ðə hɪl, hʌweə ðə tower stood. "Doesn't it cost anything to go up tauə stud. "dʌznt it kɒst enɪθɪŋ tə ɡoʊ ʌp there?" Storm asked. "No, it's quite free," Marion ðeə?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt. "nəʊ, ɪts kwaɪt friː," mæriən answered. "It's funny — you're not the first foreigner ɑ:nsəd. "ɪts fʌni — juə nɒt ðə fə:st fɔ:ɪnə

I've heard ask that question. Does it seem so strange aɪv hæ:d ɑ:sk ðæt kwestʃən. dʌz ɪt si:m soʊ streɪndʒ to you that it should be free of charge?" "Oh, I tə ju: ðæt ɪt ʃəd bi: fri: əv tʃɑ:dʒ?" "əʊ, aɪ don't know," he answered. "But you are usually dəʊnt nəʊ," hi: ɑ:nsəd. "bət ju: ɑ: ju:ʒuəli surprised, as a tourist, to find something that is free sə'praɪzd, əz ə tuərist, tə faɪnd sʌmθɪŋ ðæt ɪz fri:

of charge."
əv tʃɑ:dʒ."

"Now, let's go up," he continued, mounting the narrow
"naʊ, lets ɡoʊ ʌp," hi: kən'tɪnju:d, mauntiŋ ðə nærou stairs of the tower. "Look, out there, at the bottom steəz əv ðə tauə. "lʊk, aʊt ðeə, ət ðə bɒtəm of the valley, is the Thames," Marion said. "It looks əv ðə væli, ɪz ðə temz," mæriən sed. "ɪt lʊks no bigger than a brook from here, so it must be farther nəʊ bɪɡə ðən ə brʊk frəm hiə, soʊ ɪt mʌst bi: fɑ:ðər away than I thought," Storm replied. "And what is ə'weɪ ðən aɪ þɔ:t," stɔ:m ri'plaid. "ən hwɒt ɪz that white spot over there on the hill — is it a tent, ðæt hwaɪt spɒt oʊvə ðeər ɒn ðə hɪl — ɪz ɪt ə tent, tent

two separate nations of England and her American tu: seprɪt neɪʃənz əv ɪŋɡlənd ən hæ:r ə'merɪkən colonies. But perhaps it was a good thing, after all.

kələnɪz. bət pə'hæps ɪt wəz ə gud þɪŋ, ɑ:fɹər ɔ:l.

England has grown again to be one of the greatest ɪŋɡlənd hæz grəʊn ə'geɪn tə bi: wʌn əv ðə greɪtɪst empires of the world — it may really be said that our empaɪəz əv ðə wɜ:ld — ɪt meɪ riəli bi: sed ðət ʌʊər empire extends to all corners of the earth.

empaɪə ɪks'tendz tu ɔ:l kɔ:nəz əv ði ə:θ.

“And on the other hand, after the colonies got their “ænd ɔn ði əðə hænd, ɑ:fɹə ðə kələnɪz ɡɒt ðeə liberty, they continued to grow in size, and now the lɪbəti, ðeɪ kən'tɪnju:d tə grəʊ ɪn saɪz, ən naʊ ðə country extends from the Atlantic all the way across kʌntri ɪks'tendz frəm ði ət'læntɪk ɔ:l ðə wei ə'krɔs to the Pacific. The country that we call America con-tə ðə pə'sɪfɪk. ðə kʌntri ðət wi: kɔ:l ə'merɪkə kənsists of 48 separate states, each with its own laws.

'sɪsts əv fɔ:ti'eɪt seprɪt steɪts, i:tʃ wɪð ɪts ʌʊn lɔ:z.

But they are united into one nation, and have one bət ðeɪ ɑ: ju:'naɪtɪd ɪntə wʌn neɪʃən, ən hæv wʌn law for things that are important to all the states.

lɔ: fə þɪŋz ðət ɑ:r ɪm'pɔ:tənt tu ɔ:l ðə steɪts.

That is why the country is called the ‘United States of ðæt ɪz hiwaɪ ðə kʌntri ɪz kɔ:ld ðə 'ju:'naɪtɪd steɪts əv

America’.” “What made the first people leave England ə'merɪkə’.” “hævɒt meɪd ðə fə:st pi:pl li:v ɪŋɡlənd

Statue of Liberty

over for thinking about those fine ideas of liberty that ouva fə ʃɪŋkɪŋ ə'baʊt ðəʊz faɪn aɪ'dɪəz əv lɪbəti ðət made the first Americans leave their mother counmeɪd ðə fə:st ə'merɪkənz li:v ðəð mʌðə kʌn-try. However," he continued, "I do think America tri. haʊ'evə," hi: kən'tɪnju:d, "aɪ du: ʃɪŋk ə'merɪkə has earned the Statue of Liberty which the people həz ə:nd ðə stætju: əv lɪbəti hʁwɪtf ðə pi:pl of France gave America in 1886, as a sign əv fra:ns geɪv ə'merɪkə ɪn eɪti:n eɪti'sɪks, əz ə saɪn of the love of liberty in both countries. It's an əv ðə lʌv əv lɪbəti ɪn boʊθ kʌntrɪz. ɪts ən extremely tall statue, you know, placed on an island ɪks'tri:mli tə:l stætju:, ju: nou, pleɪst ɔn ən aɪlənd just outside New York, — the first sign that you have dʒʌst aʊtsaɪd nju: jɔ:k, — ðə fə:st saɪn ðət ju: həv come to a free country."

kʌm tu ə fri: kʌntri."

"Yes, I know," Storm replied. "I've read about it.

"jes, aɪ nou," stɔ:m ri'plaɪd. "aɪv red ə'baʊt ɪt.

Inside it, you can go all the way up to the head, ɪnsaɪd ɪt, ju: kən ɡəʊ ɔ:l ðə wei ʌp tə ðə hed, where you can look out through the eyes and thus hʁweə ju: kən lʊk aʊt θru: ði aɪz ən ðʌs get a wonderful view of New York. The Americans ɡet ə wʌndəfʊl vju: əv nju: jɔ:k. ði ə'merɪkənz are very proud of the 'sky-line' of New York, as a: veri praʊd əv ðə 'skɪləɪn' əv nju: jɔ:k, əz have governments of their own, just like the Dohəv ɡʌvənmənts əv ðeər oun, dʒʌst laɪk ðə dəminions?" Storm asked.

'minjənz?" stɔ:m ə:skt.

"Perhaps it would be just," Marshall replied, "but the "pə'hæps it wəd bi: dʒʌst," mɑ:fəl ri'plaɪd, "bət ðə natives of most of the colonies are not white people, neɪtɪvz əv mʌst əv ðə kələnɪz ə: nɒt hwaɪt pi:pl, and wouldn't be able to govern themselves. When the ən wʊdn't bi: eɪbl tə ɡʌvən ðəm'selvz. hwen ði

English first came to these places, the natives in many ɪŋɡlɪʃ fə:st keɪm tə ði:z pleɪsɪz, ðə neɪtɪvz ɪn menɪ cases were nothing but wild or savage tribes, living keɪsɪz wə: nʌθɪŋ bət waɪld ɔ: səvɪdʒ traɪbz, lɪvɪŋ under the conditions offered by nature; so the English ʌndə ðə kən'dɪʃənz ɔ:fəd baɪ neɪtʃə; sɔu ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ have had to take care of them. However, as the həv həd tə teɪk keər əv ðəm. haʊ'evə, əz ðə natives become more used to European ideas, it is neɪtɪvz bɪ'kʌm mɔ: ju:st tə juərə'piən aɪ'diəz, ɪt ɪz the intention of the British to give all the colonies ði ɪn'tenʃən əv ðə brɪtɪʃ tə ɡɪv ɔ:l ðə kələnɪz self-government.

'self'ɡʌvənmənt.

"I know that it's the general opinion of many foreigners

"aɪ nəʊ ðət ɪts ðə dʒenərəl ə'pɪnjən əv menɪ fɔrɪnəz that Britain has only thought of her own interests in ðət brɪtən həz ounli þɔ:t əv hæ:r oun ɪntrɪsts ɪn a savage intention = purpose

enjoyed under British rule. That is one of the reasons in'dʒɔɪd ʌndə brɪtɪʃ ru:l. ðæt ɪz wʌn əv ðə ri:zənz why Britain, at one time, was not willing to give up hwaɪ brɪtən, ət wʌn taɪm, wəz nɒt wɪlɪŋ tə gɪv ʌp India, even if Indians like the famous Gandhi, for ɪndjə, i:vən ɪf ɪndjənz laɪk ðə feɪməs ɡændi:, fər instance, wanted it.”

ɪnstəns, wɒntɪd ɪt.”

“It seems as if the British were a little in doubt as “ɪt si:mz əz ɪf ðə brɪtɪʃ wə:r ə lɪtl ɪn daʊt əz to what to do with Gandhi,” Storm said. “Several tə hwɒt tə du: wɪð ɡændi:,” stɔ:m sed. “sevrəl times they punished him by sending him to prison, and taɪmz ðeɪ ˈpʌnɪʃt hɪm baɪ sendɪŋ hɪm tə ˈprɪzn, ən when he had been in prison for some time, they set hwən hi: həd bi:n ɪn ˈprɪzn fə sʌm taɪm, ðeɪ set him at liberty again. In my opinion, they might just hɪm ət lɪbəti əˈɡeɪn. ɪn maɪ əˈpɪnjən, ðeɪ maɪt dʒʌst as well have given up punishing him, for I’m sure that əz wel həv ɡɪvən ʌp ˈpʌnɪʃɪŋ hɪm, fər aɪm suə ðæt punishment cannot change the political opinions of a ˈpʌnɪʃmənt kənɒt tʃeɪndʒ ðə pəˈlɪtɪkəl əˈpɪnjənz əv ə man like that, even if it’s a punishment which sends mæn laɪk ðæt, i:vən ɪf ɪts ə ˈpʌnɪʃmənt hwɪtʃ sendz him to prison for several years.”

hɪm tə ˈprɪzn fə sevrəl jɪəz.”

“The British didn’t think that either when they put “ðə brɪtɪʃ dɪdnt θɪŋk ðæt aɪðə hwən ðeɪ put prison

break the news = tell the news

news to my wife?"
nju:s tə mai waif?"

They found Mrs. Edwards in the garden with Marion.
ðei faund misiz edwədz in ðə ga:dn wið məriən.

"Now, what do you think of that?" Mr. Edwards
"nau, hwət du: ju: þiŋk əv ðæt?" mistər edwədz grant = give asked. "Do you think we can grant these two children a:skt. "du: ju: þiŋk wi: kən gra:nt ði:s tu: tfildrən our permission to marry?" "I think it's wonderful, and auə pə'misən tə məri?" "ai þiŋk its wʌndəfʊl, ən that he's a very nice boy for our Marion. May God ðæt hi:s ə veri nais bɔi fər auə məriən. mei gɔd bless you, children! I hope you'll be very happy."

bles ju:, tfildrən! ai haʊp ju:l bi: veri hæpi."

"Thank you, mother — we shall," Marion answered, "þæŋk ju:, mʌðə — wi: şəl," məriən a:nsəd, with a little smile at Storm's red face.

wið ə litl smaɪl ət stɔ:mz red feɪs.

"But you don't look very surprised," Mr. Edwards
"bət ju: daʊnt luk veri sə'praɪzd," mistər edwədz said to his wife. "Oh no, I've been expecting this for sed tə his waif. "ou nou, aɪv bi:n iks'pektɪŋ ðɪs fə some time. Haven't you?" He replied by shaking his sʌm taɪm. hævnt ju:?" hi: ri'plaɪd baɪ ʃeɪkɪŋ his head. "Why, with your wonderful brain, I thought hed. "hwaɪ, wið jɔ: wʌndəfʊl breɪn, ai þɔ:t you had found out long ago!" "I may have got a good ju: hæd faʊnd aʊt lɔŋ ə'gəʊ!" "ai mei hæv gɔt ə gʊd like the crown jewels?" "I did," Storm answered.

laik ðə kraun dʒu:əlz?" "ai did," stɔ:m a:nsəd.

"But Marion let the cat out of the bag this afternoon."
"bət mæriən let ðə kæt aut əv ðə bæɡ ðis a:ftə'nu:n."

"Aren't you afraid to send your daughter off with a "a:nt ju: ə'freid tə send jɔ: dɔ:tər ɔ:f wið ə foreigner?" Marshall asked Mrs. Edwards. "We hope fɔ:rinə?" ma:ʃəl a:skt misiz edwədz. "wi: həʊp they'll be able to stay in England," she answered, "so ðeɪl bi: eɪbl tə steɪ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd," ʃi: a:nsəd, "sou that we can keep an eye on them and guard her against ðæt wi: kæn ki:p ən ai ɔn ðəm ən ɡɑ:d hæ:r ə'geɪnst all the strange ideas that he will no doubt try to put ɔ:l ðə streɪndʒ aɪ'diəz ðæt hi: wɪl nəʊ daʊt traɪ tə put into her head!"

ɪntə hæ: hed!"

"Well," said the manager, "what did you find out about "wel," sed ðə mænɪdʒə, "hwɒt did ju: faɪnd aut ə'baut

Portsmouth?" "It doesn't look as if anybody is making pɔ:tsməp?" "ɪt dʌznt luk əz ɪf enɪbɔdi ɪz meɪkɪŋ any errors down there," Marshall replied. "All goods eni erəz daʊn ðeə," ma:ʃəl ri'plaid. "ɔ:l ɡʊdz are sent on very soon after reaching the town." "Well, a: sent ɔn veri su:n a:ftə ri:tʃɪŋ ðə taʊn." "wel, did you cable to our connections on the Continent then?

did ju: keɪbl tu əʊə kə'nekʃənz ɔn ðə kɒntɪnənt ðen?

You can't have received any cables yet from over there."
ju: kɑ:nt həv ri:si:vd eni keɪblz jət frəm ɒvə ðeə."

for dinner, and naturally, the conversation turned to fə dɪnə, ʌnd nætʃrəli, ðə kɒnvə'seɪʃən tə:nd tə the subject of ships. "I've visited Portsmouth several ðə sʌbdʒɪkt əv ʃɪps. "aɪv vɪzɪtɪd pɔ:tsməp sevrəl times," Marshall said, "and I think it would be hard taɪmz," mɑ:fəl sed, "ʌnd aɪ θɪŋk ɪt wəd bi: hæ:d to find another harbour with so many types of ships tə faɪnd ə'nʌðə hæ:bə wɪð sou meni taɪps əv ʃɪps in one place. The entire harbour is full of all kinds ɪn wʌn pleɪs. ði ɪn'taɪə hæ:bə ɪz fʊl əv ɔ:l kaɪndz of ships." "You know," Mr. Edwards explained to əv ʃɪps." "ju: nəu," mɪstə edwədz ɪks'pleɪnd tə Storm, "Portsmouth is one of the most important bases stɔ:m, "pɔ:tsməp ɪz wʌn əv ðə mʌst ɪm'pɔ:tənt beɪsɪz for British warships. In fact, it has been so ever since fə brɪtɪʃ wɔ:ʃɪps. ɪn fækt, ɪt hæz bi:n sou evə sɪns

Roman times, for the shape of the South Coast makes raʊmən taɪmz, fə ðə ʃeɪp əv ðə saʊθ kəʊst meɪks a fine natural harbour here. Within this natural harbour, ə faɪn nætʃrəl hæ:bə hɪə. wɪð'ɪn ðɪs nætʃrəl hæ:bə, two harbours have been built, one for warships and tu: hæ:bəz hæv bi:n bɪlt, wʌn fə wɔ:ʃɪps ʌn one for other ships."

wʌn fə ʌðə ʃɪps."

"And outside the harbour," Marshall added, "is the "ʌnd 'aʊt'saɪd ðə hæ:bə," mɑ:fəl ədɪd, "ɪz ðə place for all the small boats owned by the people who pleɪs fə ɔ:l ðə smɔ:l bəʊts ɒnd baɪ ðə pi:pl hu:

entire = whole

battleship == warship

aircraft carrier

aeroplane or aircraft

one aircraft two aircraft accommodate == have room for stay there in the summer. I've been there on a summer stei ðeər in ðə sʌmə. aɪv bi:n ðeər ɔn ə sʌmə day, and it really was a wonderful sight: great battledei, and it riəli wəz ə wʌndəfʊl saɪt: greɪt bætl-ships and small, all painted grey, aircraft carriers with ʃɪps ən smɔ:l, ɔ:l peɪntɪd greɪ. ɛəkra:ft kəriəz wið their broad white decks for aeroplanes, or aircraft, to ðeə brɔ:d hwaɪt deks fər ɛərəpleɪnz, ɔ:r ɛəkra:ft, tə land on, black steamers, aeroplanes starting from and lænd ɔn, blæk sti:məz, ɛərəpleɪnz stɑ:tɪŋ frəm ən landing on the aircraft carriers, and moving in and out lændɪŋ ɔn ði ɛəkra:ft kəriəz. ən mu:vɪŋ ɪn ənd aʊt among all these, there were many small boats with ə'mʌŋ ɔ:l ði:z. ðeə wə: meni smɔ:l bɔʊts wið their white sails bright in the sun. We saw a great ðeə hwaɪt seɪlz braɪt ɪn ðə sʌn. wi: sɔ: ə greɪt white steamer far out at sea, too. Somebody said it hwaɪt sti:mə fɑ:r aʊt ət si:, tu:. səmbədi sed ɪt was the 'Queen Mary'. It's strange to think that they wəz ðə 'kwi:n meəri'. ɪts streɪndʒ tə θɪŋk ðæt ðeɪ can now build ships large enough to accommodate several kən naʊ bɪld ʃɪps lɑ:dʒ ɪ'nʌf tu ə'kɒmədeɪt severəl thousand passengers and sailors."

haʊzənd pæsɪndʒəz ən seɪləz."

"That's enough people to fill a small town," Storm

"ðætʃs ɪ'nʌf pi:pl tə fɪl ə smɔ:l taʊn," stɔ:m said. "But, of course, that's unusual. The boat I came sed. "bʌt, əv kɔ:s, ðætʃs ʌn'ju:ʒʊəl. ðə bɔʊt aɪ keɪm over in accommodated 300, one of the sailors ouʋər in ə'kɒmədeɪtɪd ʒri: hʌndrəd, wʌn əv ðə seɪləz told me. — What a crowd there must be to see all təʊld mi:. — hʌʋt ə kraʊd ðə məst bi: tə si: ɔ:l those passengers off!" he added, thinking of all the ðəʊz pæsɪndʒəz ɔ:f!" hi: ədɪd, ʒɪŋkɪŋ əv ɔ:l ðə people who had been there last year to see their friends pi:pl hu: həd bi:n ðə lɑ:st jɪə tə si: ðə frendz off when he left the Continent.

ɔ:f hwen hi: left ðə kɒntɪnənt.

After dinner they passed a pleasant hour in front of ɑ:ftə dɪnə ðeɪ pɑ:st ə pleznt aʊər in frʌnt əv the fire, as it had grown a bit cool in the evening. ðə faɪə, əz ɪt həd grəʊn ə bɪt ku:l ɪn ði i:vnɪŋ.

When they rose to leave, Marion decided to walk with hwen ðeɪ rəʊz tə li:v, mæriən dɪ'saɪdɪd tə wɔ:k wɪð them to the bus. "Wait a moment!" she called to them ðəm tə ðə bʌs. "weɪt ə məʊmənt!" ʃi: kɔ:ld tə ðəm from the stairs, while they were saying good-bye to frəm ðə steəz, hwaɪl ðeɪ wə: seɪɪŋ gʊd'baɪ tə

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards. "I just want to get my mɪstər ənd mɪsɪz edwədz. "aɪ dʒʌst wɒnt tə get maɪ coat and a cap."

kəʊt ənd ə kæp."

"What! A new hat again?" cried her father, as she
"hʌʋt! ə nju: hæʔ ə'geɪn?" kraɪd hɑ: fa:ðə, əz ʃi:

appeared again with a bright green cap. "It's not a ə'piəd ə'geɪn wɪð ə braɪt grɪ:n kæp. "ɪts nɒt ə see off = say good-bye to curtain

circle

semi-circle

He dreams, he dreamt, he has dreamt [dri:mz, dremt, dremt].

rocks

healthy = in good health

room. On such nights, they would draw the curtains, rum. ɔn sʌtʃ naɪts, ðeɪ wəd drɔː ðə kəːtnz, put out the electric light in the middle of the room, put aʊt ði ɪˈlektɹɪk laɪt ɪn ðə mɪdl əv ðə ruːm, and sit in a semi-circle in front of the fire, talking ænd sit ɪn ə semɪsəːkl ɪn frʌnt əv ðə faɪə, tɔːkɪŋ about different subjects, with only the circle of yellow əˈbaʊt dɪfrənt sʌbdʒɪkts, wɪð ɔʊnli ðə səːkl əv jeləʊ light shed by a small lamp over the fire-place. They laɪt ʃed baɪ ə smɔːl læmp ɔʊvə ðə faɪəpleɪs. ðeɪ would sometimes be lost in thought, dreaming wonderwəd sʌmtaɪmz biː lɒst ɪn θɔːt, driːmɪŋ wʌndə-ful dreams about the future.

ful driːmz əˈbaʊt ðə fjuːtʃə.

Mr. Edwards was very pleased with all this. Like mɪstə edwədz wəz veri pliːzd wɪð ɔːl ðɪs. laɪk most fathers, he had tried with many wise arguments mʌst faːðəz, hiː həd traɪd wɪð meni waɪz əˈɡjʊmənts to show his daughter that knowledge is the rock upon tə ʃəʊ hɪz dɔːtə ðæt nəlɪdʒ ɪz ðə rɒk əˈpɒn which young people should build their future. And hwɪtʃ jʌŋ piːpl ʃəd bɪld ðeə fjuːtʃə. ænd

Marion had, like most healthy girls, said “Yes, father”, mærɪən həd, laɪk mʌst helpi ɡəːlz, sed “jes, faːðə”.

and then afterwards forgotten all about it. She had ænd ðen ɑːftəwədʒ fəˈɡɒtn ɔːl əˈbaʊt ɪt. ʃiː həd dreamt again her own rosy dreams, in which she would dremt əˈɡeɪn hæːr ɔʊn rouzi driːmz, ɪn hwɪtʃ ʃiː wəd always, through some happy chance, be 'on top of the ɔ:lwəz, þru: sʌm hæpi tʃa:ns, bi: 'ɔn tɒp əv ðə world' like an eagle on a rock.

wə:ld' laik ən i:gl ɔn ə rɒk.

She would see herself in the theatre, perhaps, standing ʃi: wəd si: hə:'self in ðə θiətə, pə'hæps, stændiŋ in front of the curtain with her arms full of flowers, in frʌnt əv ðə kə:tn wið hə:r a:mz ful əv flauəz, smiling across the hundreds of electric lights at her smailiŋ ə'krɒs ðə haʊdrədz əv i'lektrik laits ət hə:

feet to a house full of shouting and admiring people.

fi:t tu ə haʊs ful əv ʃaʊtiŋ ənd əd'maɪəriŋ pi:pl.

Or she would paint beautiful pictures, and crowds ɔ: ʃi: wəd peɪnt bjʊ:təfʊl pɪktʃəz, ənd kraʊdz would come to admire her art.

wəd kʌm tu əd'maɪə hə:r a:t.

"She's learning quite a different art now," her wise

"ʃi:z læ:nɪŋ kwəɪt ə dɪfrənt a:t naʊ," hə: waɪz mother thought to herself, when she saw the interest mʌðə θɔ:t tə hə:'self, hwen ʃi: sɔ: ði ɪntrɪst with which Marion took part in the discussions, "the wið hwi:tf məəriən tuk pɑ:t in ðə dis'kʌʃənz, "ði art of living in a world full of plain facts, and liking it." a:t əv li:vɪŋ in ə wə:ld ful əv pleɪn fæktz, ən laɪkiŋ it."

Mrs. Edwards even had to stop the girl now and mɪsɪz edwədz i:vən həd tə stɒp ðə gə:l naʊ ənd then. She had begun to hurry through her meals in

ðen. ʃi: həd bi'ɡʌn tə hʌri þru: hə: mi:lz in eagle

very big horns," she replied. "Yes, couldn't we go veri big hɔ:nz," ʃi: ri'plaid. "jes, kudnt wi: gou another way?" asked Ellen, Marion's friend. "I don't ə'nʌðə wei?" a:skt elin, məriənz frend. "ai dount like the look of those horns, either." "But this is laik ðə luk əv ðouz hɔ:nz, aiðə." "bət ðis iz the more direct way," he said. "We don't like going ðə mɔ: di'rekt wei," hi: sed. "wi: dount laik gouɪŋ that way, do we, Ellen?" Marion answered. "I'm ðæt wei, du: wi:, elin?" məriən a:nsəd. "aim sure those cows are going to start running towards ʃuə ðouz kaʊz a: gouɪŋ tə sta:t rʌniŋ tə'wɔ:dz us the moment we're inside the gate." "All right — ʌs ðə moumənt wiər in'said ðə geit." "ɔ:l rait —

I give up, then!" Marshall said. ai giv ʌp, ðen!" ma:ʃəl sed.

Half an hour later they were back in the village. It ha:f ən auə leitə ðei wə: bæk in ðə vilidʒ. it was still too pleasant out of doors to go inside, so wəz stil tu: pleznt aʊt əv dɔ:z tə gou in'said, sou they decided to walk about the village and look at ðei di'saidid tə wɔ:k ə'baut ðə vilidʒ ənd luk ət the houses, some of which were very old.

ðə haʊziz, sʌm əv hwi:tʃ wə: veri ould.

"It's strange to think," Storm said to the others, pointing "its streindʒ tə ʃɪŋk," stɔ:m sed tə ði ʌðəz, ɔɪntɪŋ out an old house with a beautiful old door, "how much aʊt ən ould haʊs wið ə bju:təfʊl ould dɔ:, "haʊ mʌtʃ spent (here) = used money and work was spent in the old days to make mani ən wə:k wəz spent in ði ould deiz tə meik the houses beautiful. Look at this door, for example.

ðə haʊziz bju:təfʊl. luk ət ðis dɔː, fər ig'zɑ:mpl.

And yet they did nothing at all to make their houses ən jət ðei did nəθɪŋ ət ɔ:l tə meik ðə haʊziz healthy to live in. They didn't even have drains to helpi tə liv in. ðei didnt i:vən həv dreinz tə take the dirty water away from the houses, but just teik ðə dɑ:ti wɔ:tər ə'wei frəm ðə haʊziz, bət dʒʌst threw it out of the windows into the streets or the pru: it aʊt əv ðə windoʊz intə ðə stri:ts ɔ: ðə gardens.”

gɑ:dnz.”

“And so, of course,” said Hardy, Ellen's brother, “many “ən sou, əv kɔ:s,” sed hɑ:di, elinz brʌðə, “meni people died every year of all the diseases that are the pi:pl daɪd evri jɪə əv ɔ:l ðə di'zi:ziz ðæt a: ðə consequences of dirty people living in dirty houses. kɒnsɪkwənsɪz əv dɑ:ti pi:pl livɪŋ in dɑ:ti haʊziz.

In the East, those special diseases are still very common. in ði i:st, ðoʊz speʃəl di'zi:ziz a: stɪl veri kɒmən.

But even in many countries in Europe, you're almost bət i:vən in meni kʌntri:z in jʊərəp, juər ɔ:lməʊst sure to get typhoid fever if you drink water that ʃʊə tə get taɪfɔɪd fi:və ɪf ju: drɪŋk wɔ:tə ðæt hasn't been boiled first.”

hæznt bi:n bɔɪld fə:st.”

the teacher is paid by the university. Many people, ðə ti:tʃər iz peɪd baɪ ðə juːnɪˈvɜːsɪti. mæni piːpl, for whom it would be impossible to study at a university, fɔː huːm ɪt wəd biː ɪmˈpɒsəbl tə stʌdi ət ə juːnɪˈvɜːsɪti, have been able to take up some study in this way and hæv biːn eɪbl tə teɪk ʌp səm stʌdi ɪn ðɪs wei ən have gained really useful knowledge of their subject.” hæv geɪnd riəli juːsful nɒlɪdʒ əv ðeə sʌbdʒɪkt.”

“What a fine idea!” Storm said. “It gives work to “hwaɪt ə faɪn aɪˈdiə!” stɔːm sed. “ɪt gɪvz wɜːk tə men of science as teachers, and it gives some idea of mɛn əv saɪəns əz tiːtʃəz, and ɪt gɪvz səm aɪˈdiə əv science to people who have to work, but want to get saɪəns tə piːpl huː hæv tə wɜːk, bʌt wɒnt tə get more education. Really, I’m rather proud of ‘us’ mɔːr edjuːˈkeɪʃən. riəli, aɪm raːðə praʊd əv ‘ʌs

English.” “Listen to those four men playing cards at ɪŋɡlɪʃ.” “lɪsn tə ðəʊz fɔː mɛn pleɪɪŋ kɑːdz ət the next table! I’m afraid you won’t feel so proud ðə nekst teɪbl! aɪm əˈfreɪd juː wəʊnt fiːl səʊ praʊd of ‘us’ English when you hear their stories,” Hardy əv ‘ʌs ɪŋɡlɪʃ hwen juː hɪə ðeə stɔːrɪz,” haːdi said, when they were having supper that evening. “One sed, hwen ðeɪ wəː hævɪŋ sʌpə ðæt ɪːvɪnɪŋ. “wʌn of them seems to be the village policeman. They have əv ðəm siːmz tə biː ðə vɪlɪdʒ pəˈliːsmən. ðeɪ hæv been talking of nothing but fights and blood and crime biːn tɔːkɪŋ əv nʌθɪŋ bʌt faɪts ən blʌd ən kraɪm card

"Well, have you made up your mind about it?" Marion
"wel, hæv ju: meid əp jɔ: maɪnd ə'baʊt ɪt?" mæriən make up one's mind = come to a decision

asked. "No, I haven't. I really ought to let her come, ɑ:skt. "nou, ai hævnt. ai riəli ɔ:t tə let hæ: kʌm,

I suppose, since we have nothing else on. But I'm ai sə'pəʊz, sɪns wi: hæv nəθɪŋ els ɔn. bət aɪm feeling somewhat tired and was looking forward to fi:lɪŋ səmhwʌt taɪəd ən wəz lʊkɪŋ fɔ:wəd tu somewhat = a little

a nice, peaceful Sunday." She pointed to the small ə naɪs, pi:sfʊl sʌndi." ʃi: pɔɪntɪd tə ðə smɔ:l peaceful = full of peace

table beside her chair. "You see, I had already gathered teɪbl bɪ'saɪd hæ: tʃeə. "ju: si:, ai həd ɔ:l'reɪdɪ gəðəd together on the table the papers and books that I tə'geðər ɔn ðə teɪbl ðə peɪpəz ən buks ðæt aɪ haven't had time to read till now, — and needles and hævnt həd taɪm tə ri:d tɪl naʊ, — ən ni:dlz ən thread and my scissors for a bit of sewing. But with θred ən maɪ sizəz fər ə bɪt əv səʊɪŋ. bət wɪð a child of twelve in the house there will be no peace ə tʃaɪld əv twelv ɪn ðə haʊs ðeə wɪl bi: nʌu pi:s for doing all that.

fər du:ɪŋ ɔ:l ðæt.

scissors

"When she was younger, I could give her a pair of "hwen ʃi: wəz jʌŋgə, ai kəd gɪv hæ:r ə peər əv scissors and let her cut paper dolls. But she's too old sizəz ən let hæ: kʌt peɪpə dɔlz. bət ʃi:z tu: ould for that now, and she's no good with a needle and fər ðæt naʊ, ən ʃi:z nʌu gu:d wɪð ə ni:dl ən servants = men or women working in their master's house fancy her joy when she heard where she's going. It's fænsi hæ: dʒɔi hwen ʃi: hæ:d hwæə ʃi:z gouɪŋ. its not far from tears to smiles at that age. — Please nɒt fa: frəm tiəz tə smaɪlz æt ðæt eɪdʒ. — pli:z fetch Elizabeth's woollen cap with the feather," she said fetʃ i'li:zəbəʃ wulin kæp wɪð ðə feðə," ʃi: sed to a servant who had just entered the room.

tu ə sə:vənt hu: həd dʒəst entəd ðə ru:m.

"I want to show you, Marion, the cap she has been "aɪ wɒnt tə ʃəʊ ju:, mæriən, ðə kæp ʃi: hæz bi:n sewing at school this winter. I really think she's besəʊɪŋ æt sku:l ðɪs wɪntə. aɪ riəli ɪŋk ʃi:z bi-coming somewhat better at needlework now. I didn't 'kʌmɪŋ səmhwɒt betər æt ni:dlwɜ:k naʊ. aɪ dɪdn't know she was making it — she had kept it a great naʊ ʃi: wəz meɪkɪŋ ɪt — ʃi: həd keɪpt ɪt ə greɪt secret."

si:'kri:t."

"Here it is — nice, isn't it?" she asked when the maid

"hiə ɪt ɪz — naɪs, ɪznt ɪt?" ʃi: ɑ:skt hwen ðə meɪd had brought it. "She has made all of it herself, except həd brɔ:t ɪt. "ʃi: hæz meɪd ɔ:l əv ɪt hæ:'self, ɪk'sept the feather, which she pulled from the tail of our ðə feðə. hwɪtʃ ʃi: puld frəm ðə teɪl əv ʌʊə neighbour's Christmas turkey — to my husband's great neɪbəz krɪsməs tə:ki — tə maɪ hʌzbəndz greɪt delight. He doesn't like our neighbour," she explained, dɪ'ləɪt. hi: dʌznt laɪk ʌʊə neɪbə," ʃi: ɪks'pleɪnd, said, "His Majesty doesn't look as if he's enjoying life sed. "hiz mædzisti dʌznt luk əz if hi:z in'dʒʊɪŋ laɪf very much. In fact, he looks so sad to be locked up veri mʌtʃ. ɪn fækt, hi: luks sou səd tə bi: lɒkt ʌp in here that I almost fancy I can see tears in his ɪn hiə ðæt aɪ ɔ:lmoʊst fænsi aɪ kæn si: tiəz ɪn hi:z eyes." "Why, animals can't cry, can they?" Elizabeth aɪz." "hwaɪ, ænɪməlz kɑ:nt krai, kæn ðei?" ɪlɪzəbəθ asked Storm. "No, of course not," he answered seriously.

ɑ:skt stɔ:m. "nou, əv kɔ:s nɒt," hi: ɑ:nsəd siəriəsli.

"His Majesty has a cold, so his eyes and his nose are "hiz mædzisti hæz ə kəʊld, sou hi:z aɪz ən hi:z nəʊz ɑ: running, I think." "Oh, you're just making fun of rʌnɪŋ, aɪ θɪŋk." "ou, juə dʒʌst meɪkɪŋ fʌn əv me," the child cried.

mi:," ðə tʃaɪld kraid.

"Look at the sharp claws he has," Marion said. "He

"luk ət ðə ʃɑ:p klɔ:z hi: hæz," mæriən sed. "hi:

could tear a man to pieces in no time with those claws."

kəd tiə ə mæn tə pi:sɪz ɪn nəʊ taɪm wið ðəʊz klɔ:z."

"You'll be able to watch him use his claws and his

"ju:l bi: eɪbl tə wɒtʃ hɪm ju:z hi:z klɔ:z ən hi:z teeth as well," Storm told her and pointed to a man ti:θ əz wel," stɔ:m təʊld hə: ənd pɔɪntɪd tu ə mæn who had entered the house, carrying a big basket of hu: həd ɛntəd ðə haʊs, kæriɪŋ ə bɪg bɑ:skɪt əv food for the animals.

fʊd fə ði ænɪməlz.

Their lion got a large bone with lots of meat on it ðeə laian ɡɒt ə la:dʒ boun wið lɒts əv mi:t ɔn it and at once seized it with his claws and began to ænd æt wʌns si:zd it wið hiz klɔ:z ænd bi'ɡæn tə tear the meat from the bone with his teeth. In five teə ðə mi:t frəm ðə boun wið hiz ti:p. in faiv minutes he had finished it — meat, bone, and all. minits hi: həd finɪʃt it — mi:t, boun, ænd ɔ:l.
 Then the big beast rolled peacefully over on one side ðen ðə biɡ bi:st rəʊld pi:sfʊli ɔuvər ɔn wʌn saɪd and lay looking out at the four human beings who ænd lei lʊkiŋ aʊt æt ðə fɔ: hju:mən bi:ɪŋz hu: were watching him. “Don’t you think he misses the wə: wɒtʃɪŋ him. “dʌnt ju: ɪŋk hi: misɪz ðə company of the other beasts in the forests of Africa kʌmpəni əv ði ʌðə bi:sts in ðə fɔ:ristz əv æfrɪkə — or wherever it is he comes from?” Marion asked — ɔ: hwɛər'evər it ɪz hi: kʌmz frəm?” məriən ɑ:skt the man. “Not he! He wouldn’t know what to do with ðə mæn. “nɒt hi:! hi: wʊdnt nəʊ hwɒt tə du: wið himself if he was sent to Africa. He’s too used to him'self ɪf hi: wəz sent tu æfrɪkə. hi:z tu: ju:st tə getting his meals every day without having to hunt, ɡetiŋ hiz mi:lz evri dei wið'aʊt hævɪŋ tə haʊnt, and he loves to be with human beings. He’s never so ən hi: lʌvz tə bi: wið hju:mən bi:ɪŋz. hi:z nevə sʌʊ happy as when the Zoo is full of people for him to hæpi əz hwen ðə zu: ɪz fʊl əv pi:pl fə him tə nuts

orange

look at. When nobody is here, I have to go in and luk æt. hwen noubədi iz hiə, ai hæv tə gou in ən talk to him sometimes, to keep him happy! No, it isn't tɔ:k tə him sʌmtaimz, tə ki:p him hæpi! nou, it iznt probable that he was ever outside Europe; I think he prɒbəbl ðæt hi: wəz evər autsaid juərəp; ai piŋk hi:

was born in Berlin!"

wəz bɔ:n in bə:'lin!"

The next place they entered was the monkey-house.

ðə nekst pleis ðei entəd wəz ðə mʌŋkihaus.

Elizabeth had brought a bag of nuts and oranges for i'lizəbəθ həd brɔ:t ə bæɡ əv nʌts ænd ɔrindʒiz fɔ:

them, and one by one she rolled or threw the fruit and ðəm, ænd wʌn bai wʌn si: rould ɔ: θru: ðə fru:t ænd nuts in to them. "Try and make them come up to nʌts in tu ðəm. "traɪ ən meɪk ðəm kʌm ʌp tə the fence and fetch the nuts themselves," Marion said.

ðə fens ən fetʃ ðə nʌts ðəm'selvz," mæriən sed.

"But be careful that they don't bite your fingers; you

"bət bi: keəfʊl ðæt ðei daʊnt baɪt jɔ: fiŋgəz; ju:

had better put the nuts on the floor just outside the həd betə put ðə nʌts ɒn ðə flɔ: dʒʌst aʊt'saɪd ðə fence."

fens."

"There's a big one coming up now; let him have an

"ðəz ə biɡ wʌn kʌmiŋ ʌp naʊ; let him hæv ən orange!" Storm said, pointing to a large monkey with ɔrindʒ!" stɔ:m sed, pɔɪntɪŋ tu ə la:dʒ mʌŋki wið insect had put its head on another one's knees. "It's hunting həd put its hed ɔn ə'nʌðə wʌnz ni:z. "its hʌntɪŋ for insects in its hair," Storm replied. "They're learning fər insekts in its heə, "stɔ:m ri'plaɪd. "ðeə læ:nɪŋ one of the rules of living with others: Help your wʌn əv ðə ru:lz əv lɪvɪŋ wið ʌðəz: help jɔ:

neighbour! If we all did that always, it would be much neɪbə! ɪf wi: ɔ:l dɪd ðæt ɔ:lwəz, ɪt wəd bi: mʌtʃ nicer to live and work. We could learn a thing or two naisə tə liv ən wə:k. wi: kəd læ:n ə þɪŋ ə tu:

from some of the insects, the bees, for example, who fɹəm sʌm əv ði insekts, ðə bi:z, fər ɪg'zɑ:mpl, hu:

all work from morning till night for the benefit of all."
ɔ:l wə:k fɹəm mɔ:nɪŋ tɪl naɪt fə ðə benɪfɪt əv ɔ:l."

"I don't think she's heard a word of what you've been
"aɪ daʊnt þɪŋk ʃi:z hæ:d ə wə:d əv hwɒt ju:v bi:n saying," Marion smiled, when he finished. seɪɪŋ." məˈrɪən smaɪld, hwen hi: fɪnɪʃt.

For Elizabeth had been busy feeding the monkeys from fər ɪlɪzəbəθ həd bi:n bɪzi fi:dɪŋ ðə mʌŋkɪz fɹəm her bag. "They'll eat almost anything, won't they?"

hə: bæɡ. "ðeɪl ɪ:t ɔ:lmʌʊst enɪθɪŋ, wəʊnt ðeɪ?"

she asked, turning away from the fence at last. "Nuts ʃi: ɑ:skt, tə:nɪŋ ə'wei fɹəm ðə fens ət la:st. "nʌts and oranges and apples and bread, and what they find ænd ɔ:ɪndʒɪz ænd æplz ən bred, ən hwɒt ðeɪ faɪnd in each other's hair, and worms —" "Worms?" Marion ɪn i:tʃ ʌðəz heə, ən wə:mz —"wə:mz?" məˈrɪən worm

dear now, to take you along and show it to you.”
diə nau, tə teik ju: ə'ləŋ ən fou it tu ju:.”

“Too dear?” Marion asked. “Do you mean for us?” “tu: diə?” mæriən ə:skt. “du: ju: mi:n fər ʌs?”

She turned to Storm: “And you haven’t told me anyʃi: tə:nd tə stɔ:m: “ən ju: hævnt toʊld mi: enithing! Does that mean that —?” “It means that we þiŋ! dʌz ðæt mi:n ðæt —?” “it mi:nz ðæt wi:

can afford to marry now as soon as you can make up kən ə'fɔ:d tə mæri nau əz su:n əz ju: kən meik ʌp your mind about the date. I got a rise this month, jɔ: maɪnd ə'baʊt ðə deɪt. aɪ gɒt ə raɪz ðɪs mʌnθ, and I went out at once and spent it on the ring for ænd aɪ went aʊt ət wʌns ən spent ɪt ɒn ðə rɪŋ fɔ:

you — just to be on the safe side! — I mean if you ju: — dʒʌst tə bi: ɒn ðə seɪf saɪd! — aɪ mi:n ɪf ju:

should decide that you wanted to be married to-morrow, ʃəd dɪ'saɪd ðæt ju: wɒntɪd tə bi: mæɪrɪd tə'mɒrəʊ, there would hardly be any time at the last minute ðeə wəd hɑ:dli bi: enɪ taɪm ət ðə lɑ:st mɪnɪt for buying a ring. But now I’m prepared for the worst!”

fə baɪɪŋ ə rɪŋ. bʌt nau aɪm prɪ'peəd fə ðə wɜ:st!”

Marion laughed at this. “May I see the ring now?” mæriən lɑ:ft ət ðɪs. “meɪ aɪ si: ðə rɪŋ nau?”

she asked. “And try it on?” At this moment, however, ʃi: ə:skt. “ən traɪ ɪt ɒn?” ət ðɪs moʊmənt, haʊ'evə, the door was opened by a friendly young man. “My ðə dɔ: wəz ɒpənd baɪ ə frendli jʌŋ mæn. “maɪ wife is out," he said, "but I can show you the house."

waif iz aut, hi: sed, "bət ai kən sou ju: ðə haus."

There were two rooms and a kitchen downstairs, and ðeə wə: tu: ru:mz ənd ə kitʃin 'daʊnstɛəz, ənd two rooms and a bathroom upstairs. Marion hurried tu: ru:mz ənd ə ba:prʊm 'ʌp'steəz. məriən hʌrid from room to room, crying, "Isn't this nice — isn't that fɹəm ru:m tə ru:m, kraiɪŋ, "iznt ðis nais — iznt ðæt lovely!" at every new thing she discovered. "And to lʌvli!" ət evri nju: ʃɪŋ ʃi: dis'kʌvəd. "ən tə think that I was born in this house! How strange!" ʃɪŋk ðæt ai wəz bɔ:n in ðis haus! hau streɪndʒ!"

"Yes, isn't it," her mother answered. "But come into "jes, iznt it," hə: mʌðər a:nsəd. "bət kʌm intə the kitchen, dear; I want to see what it looks like now.

ðə kitʃin, diə; ai wɒnt tə si: hwɒt it luks laik nau.

— It looks almost the same," she continued, looking — it luks ɔ:lmu:st ðə seɪm," ʃi: kən'tɪnju:d, lʊkiŋ about her. "The only difference is that it's no longer ə'baut hə:. "ði ounli difrəns iz ðæt its nou lɒŋɡə

He lights, he lit, he has lit [laits, lit, lit].

lit by gas. They have electric light now." lit bai ɡæs. ðei həv i'lektrik laɪt nau."

To the right was the kitchen-range, and just opposite, tə ðə raɪt wəz ðə kitʃɪnreɪndʒ, ənd dʒʌst ɔ:pəzɪt, at the other side of the kitchen, stood a small table ət ði ʌðə saɪd əv ðə kitʃɪn, stʊd ə smɔ:l teɪbl with four chairs round it and flowers in the centre. wɪð fɔ: tʃeəz raʊnd ɪt ənd fləʊəz ɪn ðə sentə.

"We have our meals here," the young man explained.
"wi: hæv auə mi:lz hiə," ðə jʌŋ mæn iks'pleind.

"It's easier for my wife. There's gas for cooking, of "its i:ziə fə mai waif. ðəz gæs fə kukɪŋ, əv course, but in winter we always use the kitchen-range.
kɔ:s, bət in wɪntə wi: ɔ:lweɪz ju:z ðə kitʃɪnreɪndʒ.

It burns coal and keeps the kitchen warm all day.
ɪt bə:nz kəʊl ən ki:ps ðə kitʃɪn wɔ:m ɔ:l deɪ.

I light the fire in the morning before my wife gets up, ai laɪt ðə faɪər ɪn ðə mɔ:nɪŋ bɪ'fɔ: mai waif gets ʌp, and put the kettle on the fire. So by the time we're ən put ðə ketl ɔn ðə faɪə. səʊ baɪ ðə taɪm wiə dressed, the kitchen is already nice and warm, and drest, ðə kitʃɪn ɪz ɔ:l'reɪdi naɪs ən wɔ:m, ən the water for our tea is boiling." "That's the right ðə wɔ:tə fər auə ti: ɪz bɔɪlɪŋ." "ðætʃ ðə raɪt spirit!" Mrs. Edwards said. "I was never able to make spɪrɪt!" mɪsɪz edwədʒ sed. "aɪ wəz nevər eɪbl tə meɪk my husband get up first."

maɪ hʌzbənd get ʌp fə'st."

Beside the kitchen-range was a large gas-oven. "I had bɪ'saɪd ðə kitʃɪnreɪndʒ wəz ə la:dʒ gæsʌvn. "aɪ hæd a gas-oven, too," Mrs. Edwards said. "I was very proud ə gæsʌvn, tu:," mɪsɪz edwədʒ sed. "aɪ wəz veri praʊd of it, I remember, for most of my friends had no əv ɪt, aɪ rɪ'membə, fə maʊst əv maɪ frendz həd noʊ gas-oven and had to use the oven of the kitchen-range. gæsʌvn ən hæd tə ju:z ði ʌvn əv ðə kitʃɪnreɪndʒ.

But one Christmas, when I had a big turkey in my bət wʌn krɪsməs, hwen aɪ həd ə bɪg tɑ:kɪ ɪn maɪ gas-oven, a sudden wind from the open window blew gæsʌvən, ə sʌdn wɪnd frəm ði ɒpən wɪndəu blu:

out the flame. I discovered it a few moments later aut ðə fleɪm. aɪ dɪs'kʌvəd ɪt ə fju: moʊmənts leɪtər and went to light it again, of course. But as soon as ən went tə laɪt ɪt ə'geɪn, əv kɔ:s. bət əz su:n əz

I lit the match, a big flame jumped out of the gas-oven aɪ lɪt ðə mætʃ, ə bɪg fleɪm dʒʌmpt aut əv ðə gæsʌvən at me and burnt some of my hair. For a long time æt mi: ən bə:nt sʌm əv maɪ heə. fər ə lɔŋ taɪm after, I was afraid to light the gas-oven, and used a:ftə, aɪ wəz ə'freɪd tə laɪt ðə gæsʌvən, ən ju:zd my old oven in the kitchen-range, just like all my maɪ ould ʌvən ɪn ðə kɪtʃɪn'reɪndʒ, dʒʌst laɪk ɔ:l maɪ friends.

frendz.

“But here I’m just talking and talking,” she interrupted “bət hɪər aɪm dʒʌst tɔ:kɪŋ ən tɔ:kɪŋ,” ʃi: ɪntə'rʌptɪd herself, “and we haven’t heard yet how the two of you hə:'self, “ən wi: həvnt hə:d ʒet hau ðə tu: əv ju:

like the house.” “I think it looks fine,” Storm said.
laɪk ðə haʊs.” “aɪ ɪŋk ɪt lʊks faɪn,” stɔ:m sed.

“And I think it’s perfectly lovely,” Marion cried.
“ənd aɪ ɪŋk ɪts pə:fɪktli lʌvli,” mərɪən kraɪd.

“Only I can’t understand how we can possibly afford “əʊnli aɪ kɑ:nt ʌndə'stænd hau wi: kən pɒsəbli ə'fɔ:d