

ENGLISH INSTITUTIONS

One day our four friends passed a hospital. Outside wʌn dei auə ʃɔ: frendz pa:st ə həspɪl. 'aʊt'saɪd they saw a placard or poster, on which was written ðei sɔ: ə plækɑ:d ɔ: pəʊstə, ɒn hwiːf wəz rɪtɪn in big letters: £ 10,000 still needed to pay for ɪn bɪɡ leɪtəz: ten paʊzənd paʊndz stɪl niːdɪd tə peɪ ʃə last year.

laːst jɪə.

Brown: "What is the meaning of the placard? Would braʊn: "hʊəl ɪz ðə miːnɪŋ əv ðə plækɑ:d? wʊd you be kind enough to explain that to us, Mr. Miller?" ju: biː kaɪnd i'nʌf tu ɪks'pleɪn ðæt tu ʌs, mɪstə mɪlə?"

Mr. Miller: "Yes, that means that the hospital still mɪstə mɪlə: "jes, ðæt miːnz ðæt ðə həspɪl stɪl needs £ 10,000 to be able to pay its bills niːdz ten paʊzənd paʊndz tə biː eɪbl tə peɪ ɪts bɪlz for last year. Many of the big hospitals in England ʃə laːst jɪə. mæni əv ðə bɪɡ həspɪtlz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd are private, that is, neither the State nor the towns ɑ: praɪvət, ðæt ɪz, naɪðə ðə steɪt nɔ: ðə taʊnz in which they are situated have anything to do with ɪn hwiːf ðei ɑ: sɪtʃueɪtɪd hæv ɛnɪθɪŋ tə duː wɪð them, so that they do not get any money from the ðəm, səʊ ðæt ðei duː nɒt ɡet ɛni mʌni frəm ðə poster = placard state = nation towns or from the State to pay for their work." Brown: taunz ɔ: frəm ðə steit tə pei fə ðeə wə:k." Braun:

"How do they get money, then?"

"hau du: ðei get mʌni, ðen?"

Mr. Miller: "It is given to them by private people.
mistə milə: "it iz givn tə ðəm bai praɪvɪt pi:pl.

Money for the hospitals is often collected on special mʌni fə ðə həspɪtlz iz ɔ:fən kə'lektɪd ɒn speʃəl days in the year. There is, for example, a special deɪz ɪn ðə - jɪə. ðeər iz, fər ɪg'zɑ:mpl, ə speʃəl

Saturday called Hospital Saturday on which a lot of sætədi kɔ:ld həspɪtl sætədi ɒn hwɪtf ə lɒt əv money is collected for the hospitals in the streets, at mʌni iz kə'lektɪd fə ðə həspɪtlz ɪn ðə stri:ts, ət the doors, etc. And as you have seen just now, posters ðə dɔ:z, ɪt'setɹə. ənd əz ju: həv si:n dʒʌst nau, pəʊstəz tell people all the year round that the hospitals need tɛl pi:pl ɔ:l ðə jɪə raʊnd ðæt ðə həspɪtlz ni:d money. In some countries, most of the hospitals, mʌni. ɪn sʌm kʌntrɪz, mʌst əv ðə həspɪtlz, schools, and churches are paid for either by the State sku:lz, ənd ɪfə:tfɪz a: peɪd fɔ: aɪðə bai ðə steɪt or by the towns. They are what we call public and get ɔ: bai ðə taunz. ðei a: hwət wi: kɔ:l pʌblɪk ənd get public help; but in England this is not always so. Here pʌblɪk help; bʌt ɪn ɪŋɡlənd ðɪs ɪz nɒt ɔ:lweɪz səʊ. hɪə those three institutions are often private. I have ðəʊz θri: ɪnstɪ'tju:ʃənz a:r ɔ:fən praɪvɪt. aɪ həv church and tell me what you have been doing. Your manager and tel mi: hwɔt ju: həv bi:n du:iŋ. jɔ: mænɪdʒər and I are old friends, you know. He was over here and ai a:r ould frendz, ju: nou. hi: wəz ouvə hiə to study the business when I was a young man in tə stʌdi ðə biznis hwen ai wəz ə jʌŋ mæn in this same office, so we know each other very well. I ðis seim ɔfis, sou wi: nou i:tʃ ʌðə veri wel. ai shall be glad to show you round the place.” ʃəl bi: glæd tə ʃou ju: raʊnd ðə pleis.”

A little later, when they were walking round, Mr. ə litt leɪtə, hwen ðei wə: wɔ:kiŋ raʊnd, mɪstər

Edwards showed him several modern machines that edwədz ʃəʊd him sevərəl mɒdən mə'fi:nz ðət they had just bought. “Come and have a look at this ðei həd dʒʌst bɔ:t. “kʌm and həv ə luk ət ðis one,” he said, showing him an adding machine. “It wʌn,” hi: sed, ʃəʊɪŋ him ən ædɪŋ mə'fi:n. “it is a very useful machine, which saves us a lot of time. iz ə veri ju:sfʊl mə'fi:n, hwɪtʃ seɪvz ʌs ə lɒt əv taɪm.

Before we got it, we had a man who sat all day adding bɪ'ɔ: wi: ɡɒt ɪt, wi: həd ə mæn hu: sæt ɔ:l dei ædɪŋ figures; now the same man does the same work in less fiɡəz; naʊ ðə seim mæn dʌz ðə seim wɜ:k in les than three hours with his machine. That means more ðən θri: aʊəz wɪð hi:z mə'fi:n. ðæt mi:nz mɔ:

than five hours saved every day.” Storm was shown ðən faɪv aʊəz seɪvd evri dei.” stɔ:m wəz ʃəʊn round (here) = about a conversation = a talk between two or more persons dinner-jacket

some other modern things that are useful in an office, sʌm ʌðə mɒdən piŋz ðət a: ju:sfʊl in ən əfɪs, and then they went back to the manager's private ænd ðen ðei went bæk tə ðə mænɪdʒəz praɪvət office. After Storm had told the manager what they əfɪs. ɑ:fɹə stɔ:m hæd təʊld ðə mænɪdʒə hwət ðei had seen and done during their stay in England, Mr. hæd si:n ænd dʌn dʒuəriŋ ðeə steɪ in ɪŋɡlənd, mɪstər Edwards said, "I know what it is like to be in a foredwədz sed, "aɪ nou hwət ɪl ɪz laɪk tə bi: in ə fɔeign country as a tourist. You do not get into conrɪn kʌntri əz ə tuərɪst. ju: du: nɒt get ɪntə kən-versation with Englishmen as much as you would like və'seɪʃən wɪð ɪŋɡlɪʃmən əz mʌʃ əz ju: wʊd laɪk to. So if you would like to come and dine with us to-tu. sɒ ɪf ju: wʊd laɪk tə kʌm ænd daɪn wɪð ʌs tənight, all four of you, my wife and I would be very 'naɪl, ɔ:l fɔ:r əv ju:, maɪ waɪf ænd aɪ wʊd bi: veri pleased. Could you come at half past seven?" "Thank pli:zd. kʊd ju: kʌm ət ha:f pa:st sevən?" "þæŋk you very much, that is very kind of you!" Storm ju: veri mʌʃ, ðæt ɪz veri kaɪnd əv ju:!" stɔ:m answered, "but I am afraid that we have not brought ɑ:nsəd, "bʌt aɪ əm ə'freɪd ðət wi: hæv nɒt brɔ:t the right clothes for that. We took as little luggage ðə raɪt kləʊðz fɔ ðæt. wi: tuk əz lɪl lʌɡɪdʒ as possible, and none of us have brought our dinnerəz pɒsəbl, ænd nən əv ʌs hæv brɔ:t əʊə daɪnəand then he introduced his friends, "This is Mr. Miller, ænd ðen hi: intrə'dju:st hiz frendz, "ðis iz mistə milə, our teacher, and these are my two friends, Mr. Wood auə ti:tfə, ænd ði:z a: mai tu: frendz, mistə wud and Mr. Brown."

ænd mistə braun."

Mr. Miller thanked Mr. and Mrs. Edwards for their mistə milə þəŋkt mistər ænd misiz edwədz fə ðeə kindness in asking three strangers — three men whom kaindnis in a:skiŋ pri: streindʒəz — pri: men hu:m they did not know — to dinner. After a glass of wine ðei did nɒt nou — tə dinə. a:ftər ə gla:s əv wain

Mr. Edwards said to Mr. Miller, Brown, and Wood, mistər edwədz sed tə mistə milə, braun, ænd wud,

"May Mr. Storm and I leave you for a few minutes?
"mei mistə stɔ:m ænd ai li:v ju: fər ə fju: minits?

There is something I want to speak to Mr. Storm ðeər iz sʌmpɪŋ ai wənt tə spi:k tə mistə stɔ:m about before dinner. — Will you fill the gentlemen's ə'baʊt bi'fɔ: dinə. — wil ju: fil ðə dʒentlmənz glasses again, my dear," he said to his wife, "while gla:siz ə'gein, mai diə," hi: sed tə hiz waif, "hwail

Mr. Storm and I go into my study?" mistə stɔ:m ænd ai gou intə mai stʌdi?"

Mr. Edwards's study was a nice large room with book-mistər edwədziz stʌdi wəz ə nais la:dʒ ru:m wið bukshelves along two walls, a fire-place, in front of which felvz ə'ləŋ tu: wɔ:lz, ə faɪəpleis, in frʌnt əv hwɪf one shelf two shelves writing-table

fire-place

stay on = stay to be taken ill = to become ill

there were some big chairs, and a large writing-table ðeə wə: sʌm biɡ tʃeəz, ənd ə la:dʒ raɪtɪŋleɪbl with many papers and books. Over the fire-place was wɪð meni peɪpəz ənd buks. oʊvə ðə ˈfaɪəpleɪs wəz a shelf, on which there was a fine old clock. "Sit down ə ʃelf, ɒn hwɪlf ðeə wəz ə ˈfaɪn ould klɒk. "sɪt daʊn in that chair, Storm," said Mr. Edwards, "I will take ɪn ðæt tʃeə, stɔ:m," sed mɪstə edwədz, "aɪ wɪl teɪk this one." He then began, "How would you like to ðɪs wʌn." hi: ðen bɪˈɡæn, "haʊ wʊd ju: laɪk tə stay on here a few months longer, Storm? You see, steɪ ɒn hɪə ə fju: mʌnθs lɒŋɡə, stɔ:m? ju: si:, one of my young men at the office was taken ill last wʌn əv maɪ jʌŋ men ət ðɪ ɒfɪs wəz teɪkən ɪl lɑ:st week, and he will not be able to start work again wi:k, ənd hi: wɪl nɒt bi: eɪbl tə stɑ:t wə:k əˈgeɪn until the beginning of next year. He has been doing ʌnˈtɪl ðə bɪˈɡɪnɪŋ əv nekst jɪə. hi: həz bi:n du:ɪŋ all our foreign correspondence; most of it is with ɔ:l əʊə ˈfɔrɪn kɔrɪsˈpɒndəns; mɔ:st əv ɪt ɪz wɪð your country, you know. He writes your language jɔ: kʌntri, ju: nəʊ. hi: raɪts jɔ: læŋɡwɪdʒ quite well and knows something of several other kwaɪt wel ənd nəʊz sʌmˈpɪŋ əv severəl ʌðə languages besides. I might get another young man læŋɡwɪdʒɪz bɪˈsaɪdz. aɪ maɪt ɡet əˈnʌðə jʌŋ mæn to take his position, but it may be difficult, as it is tə teɪk hɪz pəˈzɪʃən, bʌt ɪt meɪ bi: dɪfɪkəlt, əz ɪt ɪz now," he added, opening the door to his study. "This nau," hi: ædid, oupəniŋ ðə dɔ: tə hiz stʌdi. "ðis is my room, where I can have my books and papers iz mai ru:m, hwɛər ai kən hæv mai buks ænd peipəz in peace. The maid comes in here about once a week in pi:s. ðə meid kʌmz in hiə ə'baʊt wʌnz ə wi:k

to clean the room, and on that day I can never find tə kli:n ðə ru:m, ænd ɒn ðæt dei ai kən nevə faɪnd any of my things. She has been here to-day, I think, eni əv mai piŋz. ʃi: həz bi:n hiə tə'dei, ai piŋk, for I can't see my cigars anywhere. Well, they must fər ai ka:nt si: mai si'ga:z enihwɛə. wɛl, ðei mʌst be somewhere, so I'll see if I can find them." He bi: sʌmhwɛə, sou aɪl si: ɪf ai kən faɪnd ðəm." hi:

looked round the room, found the box of cigars at last lʊkt raʊnd ðə ru:m, faʊnd ðə bɒks əv si'ga:z ət la:st on one of the book-shelves, and then offered one to ɒn wʌn əv ðə bʊkʃelvz, ænd ðen ə'fəd wʌn tu each of his guests.

i:tʃ əv hiz gests.

"These arm-chairs in front of the fire-place look very "ði:z a:mtʃeəz in fɹʌnt əv ðə faɪəpleɪs lʊk veri comfortable," said Wood, and Mr. Edwards replied, kʌmfətəbl," sed wʊd, ænd mɪstər edwədz ri'plaɪd,

"Yes, they are very nice to sit in. I have tried to "jes, ðei a: veri nais tə sɪt in. ai həv traɪd tə make my house as comfortable as possible, for it is so meɪk mai haus əz kʌmfətəbl əz pɒsəbl, fər ɪt ɪz sou arm-chair

rose

lawn is my love of garden work that does this. Work like iz mai lʌv əv gɑ:dən wə:k ðæt dʌz ðis. wə:k laik this is necessary for a business man to keep him well. ðis iz nesisəri fər ə biznis mæn tə ki:p him wel.

I am especially interested in roses. Over here on the ai əm is'pefəli intristid ,in rouziz. ʊvə hiə ən ðə south side of the house and along the garden wall, I saʊp said əv ðə haus ənd ə'ləŋ ðə gɑ:dən wɔ:l, ai have my rose-bushes. Aren't they beauties? hæv mai rouzbʊfiz. a:nt ðei bjʊ:tiz?

"You see that we have a big lawn. Most English people "ju: si: ðæt wi: hæv ə big lɔ:n. moust iŋɡlɪf pi:pl like to have a piece of ground with grass in their laik tə hæv ə pi:s əv graʊnd wið grɑ:s in ðeə gardens. As you can see, the lawn goes right up to the gɑ:dnz. əz ju: kən si:, ðə lɔ:n gɔuz raɪt ʌp tə ðə house, so that looking out of the windows, we almost haus, sɔ ðæt lʊkiŋ aʊt əv ðə windəʊz, wi: ɔ:lmoust feel that we are in the garden. The lawns of many fi:l ðæt wi: a:r in ðə gɑ:dən. ðə lɔ:nz əv meni large old English country-houses are famous all over la:dʒ ould iŋɡlɪf kʌntrihaʊziz a: feɪməs ɔ:l ʊvə the world. These old lawns are so famous and well ðə wɜ:ld. ði:z ould lɔ:nz a: sɔ feɪməs ənd wel known that, when people want to say that a lawn is nəʊn ðæt, hwen pi:pl wənt tə sei ðæt ə lɔ:n iz really beautiful, they say it is a 'real English lawn'. riəli bjʊ:təfʊl, ðei sei it iz ə 'riəl iŋɡlɪf lɔ:n'.

Some of them are several hundred years old.

sʌm əv ðəm a: sevrəl hʌndrəd jɪz ould.

“At the back of the garden are my fruit trees, and we “ət ðə bæʃk əv ðə ɡɑ:dən a: maɪ fru:t tri:z, ənd wi:

also have a small kitchen-garden with a few vegetables.

ə:lsoʊ hæv ə smɔ:l ki:ʃɪŋɡɑ:dən wið ə fju: vedʒɪtəblz.

It isn't of very much use to us, but I get lots of fun it ɪznt əv veri mʌʃ ju:s tu ʌs, bʌt aɪ ɡet lɒts əv ʃʌn out of working in it.” On their way back to the house aʊt əv wə:kiŋ in ɪt.” ɒn ðeə wei bæʃk tə ðə haʊs

Mr. Edwards showed them the garage and opened the mɪstər edwədz ʃəʊd ðəm ðə ɡæɾɑ:ʒ ənd ɒpənd ðə door so that they might see his car. It was a beauty, dɔ: soʊ ðæt ðeɪ maɪ si: hɪz kɑ:. ɪt wəz ə bjʊ:ti, and quite new. “It is a small Morris,” he said. “I ənd kwɪt nju:. “ɪt ɪz ə smɔ:l mɔ:ɾɪs,” hi: sed. “aɪ think you know Morris cars in your country, too. It θɪŋk ju: nəʊ mɔ:ɾɪs kɑ:z in jɔ: kʌntri, tu:. ɪt is quite famous in other countries for its low price and ɪz kwɪt feɪməs in ʌðə kʌntrɪz ʃər ɪts loʊ praɪs ənd for being cheap to run. I have had other cars before, ʃər bi:ɪŋ tʃi:p tə rʌn. aɪ hæv həd ʌðə kɑ:z bɪ'fɔ:, larger ones, but now that we are only three, this one lɑ:dʒə wʌnz, bʌt nəʊ ðæt wi: ɑ:r ɒnli θri:, ðɪs wʌn is big enough, and, nowadays, cheapness is something ɪz bɪɡ ɪ'nʌʃ, ənd, nəʊədeɪz, tʃi:pnis ɪz sʌmpɪŋ one must think of, too. It runs many miles for a few wʌn mʌst θɪŋk əv, tu:. ɪt rʌnz meni maɪlz ʃər ə fju:

garage

to run (here) = to drive you don't know the size. She wouldn't be pleased if ju: dount nou ðə saiz. fi: wudnt bi: pli:zd if you bought something which was either too small or ju: bə:t sʌmpɪŋ hwɪlf wəz aɪðə tu: smɔ:l ə:

too big for her, because then she would not be able tu: biɡ fɔ: hæ:, bi'kɔz ðen fi: wəd nɒt bi: eɪbl to wear it. But we have many other things, handtə weər it. bʌt wi: hæv meni ʌðə piŋz, hændbags, for example. We have some very fine leather bægz, fɜr iɡ'zɑ:mpl. wi: hæv sʌm veri faɪn leðə bags here." "What sort of leather is this?" Wood bægz hiə." "hwɒt. sɔ:t əv leðər iz ðis?" wud asked, when he was shown the bags. "It is goatskin," ɑ:skt, huwen hi: wəz ʃoun ðə bægz. "it iz ɡoʊtskin," the saleswoman answered; "the bags cost only forty ðə seɪlzwʊmən ɑ:nsəd; "ðə bægz kɒst ɔʊnli ʃɔ:ti shillings apiece." ʃɪlɪŋz ə'pi:s."

"That is quite cheap," Wood said to the others. "At "ðæt iz kwɪt tʃi:p," wud sed tə ði ʌðəz. "ət home we shouldn't be able to get bags of goatskin as həʊm wi: ʃudnt bi: eɪbl tə ɡet bægz əv ɡoʊtskin əz cheap as that. Goatskin is a very fine sort of leather tʃi:p əz ðæt. ɡoʊtskin iz ə veri faɪn sɔ:t əv leðə and is usually very expensive. I once bought a bag ænd iz ju:ʒuəli veri ɪks'pensɪv. aɪ wʌns bɔ:t ə bæɡ for an aunt or some other relation at home, and that fɜr ən ɑ:nt ə: sʌm ʌðə ri'leɪʃən ət həʊm, ænd ðæt goat goatskin = the skin of goats apiece = for each pronounce a word = say a word as it should be said suppose = think

so far = until now

Do you find that English words are difficult to du: ju: faɪnd ðæt ɪŋɡlɪʃ wə:dz a: dɪfɪkəl tə pronounce?" "Sometimes," Storm answered, "your prə'naʊns?" "sʌmtaɪmz," stɔ:m a:nsəd, "jɔ:

words are difficult for my tongue to pronounce, but I wə:dz a: dɪfɪkəl fə maɪ tʌŋ tə prə'naʊns, bət aɪ suppose that after a time my mouth and my tongue sə'pəʊz ðæt a:ftər ə taɪm maɪ maʊθ ənd maɪ tʌŋ will get used to the English pronunciation." "Yes, I wɪl ɡet ju:st tə ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ prənʌnsi'eɪʃən." "jes, aɪ suppose they will. I am quite sure that the pronuncisə'pəʊz ðeɪ wɪl. aɪ əm kwaɪtʃ suə ðæt ðə prənʌnsiation of the words in your language would be very 'eɪʃən əv ðə wə:dz ɪn jɔ: læŋɡwɪdʒ wəd bi: veri difficult to me at first. The manager told me this is dɪfɪkəl tə mi: ət fə:st. ðə mænɪdʒə təʊld mi: ðɪs ɪz your first visit to England. Do you like what you have jɔ: fə:st vɪzɪt tu ɪŋɡlənd. du: ju: laɪk hwət ju: hæv seen of England?"

sɪ:n əv ɪŋɡlənd?"

Storm told him that so far he had enjoyed his stay stɔ:m təʊld hɪm ðæt sou fə: hi: həd ɪn'dʒɔɪd hɪz steɪ in England very much, and that although he had ɪn ɪŋɡlənd veri mʌʃ, ənd ðæt ə:l'dəʊ hi: həd learned about England at school, he was glad to see for lənd ə'baʊt ɪŋɡlənd ət sku:l, hi: wəz ɡlæd tə si: fə himself what the country was really like. He said that hɪm'self hwət ðə kʌntri wəz riəli laɪk. hi: sed ðæt later on = later

Scotchman = Scot

led the way to the factory, and one of the men working led ðə wei tə ðə ʃæktəri, and wʌn əv ðə men wə:kiŋ there explained to Storm that this was the place where ðeə iks'pleind tə stɔ:m ðæt ðis wəz ðə pleis hwəə the goods were made. "We produce the goods, that is, ðə gudz wə: meid. "wi: prə'dju:s ðə gudz, ðæt iz, we make the goods here. The other departments may wi: meik ðə gudz hiə. ði ʌðə di'pɑ:tmənts mei be useful, but remember that we produce the things."

bi: ju:sfʊl, bʊt ri'membə ðæt wi: prə'dju:s ðə piŋz."

Later on, they went into the department where the leɪtər ɒn, ðei went intə ðə di'pɑ:tmənt hwəə ðə books were kept. Here they were told the same thing bʊks wə: kept. hiə ðei wə: təʊld ðə seɪm piŋ as in the factory: the department that keeps the books əz in ðə ʃæktəri: ðə di'pɑ:tmənt ðæt ki:ps ðə bʊks and gets the money for the goods that have been ænd gets ðə mʌni fə ðə gudz ðæt hæv bi:n produced and sold, must be the most important. The prə'dju:st ænd sould, məst bi: ðə moust im'pɔ:tənt. ðə man to whom they spoke in this department told Storm mæn tə hu:m ðei spəʊk in ðis di'pɑ:tmənt təʊld stɔ:m that he was a Scot and not an Englishman. He showed ðæt hi: wəz ə skɒt ænd nɒt ən iŋɡlɪʃmən. hi: ʃəʊd

Marshall a big book, saying to him, "Everybody that mɑ:ʃəl ə big bʊk, seɪɪŋ tə him, "evrɪbɒdi ðæt buys from us has an account in this book, in order that baɪz frəm ʌs hæz ən ə'kaʊnt in ðis bʊk, in ɔ:ðə ðæt sofa

chest of drawers linen (here) = shirts, handkerchiefs, underwear, etc. (which are made of linen)

He hangs, he hung,
he has hung [hæŋz, hæŋ, hæŋ].

photograph

an armchair, a sofa, a chest of drawers, a wardrobe, ən 'ɑ:m'tʃɛə, ə soufə, ə tʃest əv drɔ:əz, ə wɔ:droub, and some other pieces of furniture. He was very happy ənd səm ʌðə pi:siz əv fə:nitʃə. hi: wəz veri hæpi to see so much furniture, much more than there had tə si: sou mʌtʃ fə:nitʃə, mʌtʃ mɔ: ðən ðeə həd been in the hotel room.

bi:n in ðə hau'tel ru:m.

Storm opened his bag and took out some shirts, handstɔ:m oupənd hiz bæɡ ənd tuk aʊt səm ʃə:ts, hæŋkerchiefs, etc., and went to the chest of drawers and kətʃi:z, i'tsetrə, ənd went tə ðə tʃest əv drɔ:əz ənd opened one of the drawers. As he had come to England oupənd wʌn əv ðə drɔ:əz. əz hi: həd kʌm tu ɪŋɡlənd for a fortnight only, he had brought very little linen fɔr ə fɔ:tnait ounli, hi: həd brɔ:t veri lɪl linɪn and would have to buy some more in London. There ənd wəd hæv tə baɪ səm mɔ:r in lʌndən. ðeə were some pictures on the walls, but Mrs. Marshall wə: səm pɪktʃəz ɒn ðə wɔ:lz, bʊt mɪsɪz mɑ:ʃəl said that perhaps he would like to hang up some sed ðæt pə'hæps hi: wəd laɪk tə hæŋ ʌp səm pictures of his own or some photographs of relations pɪktʃəz əv hiz oun ɔ: səm fəʊtəgrɑ:fz əv rɪ'leɪʃənz or friends. Storm replied that he had no pictures to ɔ: frendz. stɔ:m rɪ'plaid ðæt hi: həd nou pɪktʃəz tə hang up, but he had a photograph of his father. He hæŋ ʌp, bʊt hi: həd ə fəʊtəgrɑ:f əv hiz fa:ðə. hi:

told Mrs. Marshall that he had no father now; his tould misiz ma:fəl ðət hi: hæd nou fa:ðə nau; hiz father was dead. "I am very sorry," said Mrs. Marshall, fa:ðə wəz ded. "ai əm veri sɔri," sed misiz ma:fəl,

"to hear that your father is not alive. How long has "tə hiə ðət jɔ: fa:ðər iz nɒt ə'laiv. hau lɔŋ hæz he been dead?" "Let me see," answered Storm, "he hi: bi:n ded?" "let mi: si:," a:nsəd stɔ:m, "hi:

was alive until shortly after I became a clerk, so he wəz ə'laiv ʌn'til ʃɔ:lli a:ftər ai bi'keim ə kla:k, sou hi:

has been dead for five years." hæz bi:n ded fə faiv jɪəz."

Mrs. Marshall now showed Storm some hooks in a misiz ma:fəl nau ʃəʊd stɔ:m səm huks in ə corner of the room, upon which he could hang some kɔ:nər əv ðə ru:m, ə'pɒn hwɪlf hi: kəd hæŋ sʌm of his clothes. He took one or two things out of his bag əv hiz kləʊðz. hi: tuk wʌn ə tu: piŋz aʊt əv hiz bæŋ and hung them on hooks, and the rest he hung in the ænd hʌŋ ðəm ɒn huks, ænd ðə rest hi: hʌŋ in ðə wardrobe. She also pointed to the door, which had a wɔ:droub. ʃi: ə'lsəʊ pɔɪntɪd tə ðə dɔ:, hwɪlf hæd ə key in the lock, and told Storm that she would give ki: in ðə lɒk, ænd tould stɔ:m ðət ʃi: wəd giʋ him a key to the front door, too. He thanked Mrs. him ə ki: tə ðə frʌnt dɔ:, tu:. hi: ʒæŋkt misiz

Marshall for thinking of all these things, but said, ma:fəl fə piŋkiŋ əv ə:l ði:z piŋz, bət sed, the rest — the other things

button

come of = fall off

He sews,
he sewed, he has sewn [souz, soud, soun].

extremely = very thumb

however, that he didn't think it necessary to lock his hau'evə, ðət hi: didnt piŋk it nesisəri tə lək hiz bedroom door.

bedrum dɔ:.

Mrs. Marshall told Storm that if a button should come misiz ma:fəl tould stɔ:m ðət if ə bʌtn fəd kʌm off his coat, she would be glad to sew it on again. ɔ:f hiz kəʊt, fi: wəd bi: glæd tə sou it ɔn ə'geɪn.

"Such things," she said, "are not difficult for a woman
"sʌtʃ piŋz," fi: sed, "a: nɒt dɪfɪkəlt fər ə wʊmən to do; they're quite simple, because we do them so tə du:; ðeə kwaɪt sɪmpl, bi'kəz wi: du: ðəm sou often, but they're not always simple for men." "That ɔ:fən, bət ðeə nɒt ɔ:lweɪz sɪmpl fər men." "ðæt is extremely kind of you, Mrs. Marshall. Once, when I ɪz ɪks'tri:mli kaɪnd əv ju:, misiz ma:fəl. wʌns, huwen aɪ was in the country on holiday, I sewed on some buttons wəz ɪn ðə kʌntri ɔn həlɪdi, aɪ səʊd ɔn səm bʌtnz which had come off, but the next day they came off hwɪlf həd kʌm ɔ:f, bət ðə nekst dei ðei keɪm ɔ:f again; they were so badly sewn on. Although I really ə'geɪn; ðei wə: sou bædli soun ɔn. ɔ:l'dəʊ aɪ riəli have only one thumb on each hand, as soon as I start hæv ounli wʌn þʌm ɔn i:tʃ hənd, əz su:n əz aɪ stɑ:t sewing, I feel as if all five fingers were thumbs." "I səʊɪŋ, aɪ fi:l əz ɪf ɔ:l faɪv fiŋgəz wə: þʌmz." "aɪ think there is only one more thing to ask you about," piŋk ðəz ounli wʌn mɔ: piŋ tu ɑ:sk ju: ə'baut," said Mrs. Marshall, "after which I will leave you with sed misiz ma:fəl, "a:ftə hwitf ai wil li:v ju: wið my son. At what time would you like to get up in the mai sʌn. ət hwət taim wəd ju: laik tə get ʌp in ðə morning, early or late?" "At home," Storm answered, mɔ:nɪŋ, ə:li ə leɪt?" "ət haʊm," stɔ:m a:nsəd,

"I usually get up about seven o'clock in the morning."
"ai ju:ʒuəli get ʌp ə'baʊt sevn ə'klɒk in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ."

"That suits us very well. My son usually gets up a "ðæt sju:ts ʌs veri wel. mai sʌn ju:ʒuəli gets ʌp ə little later, so you can have the bathroom first. There lɪl leɪtə, sou ju: kən hæv ðə ba:θrʊm fə:st. ðeə will be a special hook there for you to hang your wil bi: ə speʃəl huk ðeə fə ju: tə hæŋ jɔ:

things on."
pɪŋz ɔn."

Mrs. Marshall now left the room, and the two young misiz ma:fəl nau left ðə ru:m, ənd ðə tu: jʌŋ men sat down to have a talk. Storm sat down in the men sæt daʊn tə hæv ə tɔ:k. stɔ:m sæt daʊn in ði armchair, while Marshall lay down on the sofa and 'a:m'tʃeə, hwail ma:fəl lei daʊn ɔn ðə soufə ənd made himself comfortable. This was not difficult, for meid him self kʌmfətəbl. ðɪs wəz nɒt dɪfɪkəlt, fə there were two or three very good cushions on it. "I ðeə wə: tu: ə pri: veri gud kʊʃənz ɔn ɪt. "ai am afraid I shall fall asleep," said Marshall. "Yesterəm ə'freɪd ai ʃəl fɔ:l ə'sli:p," sed ma:fəl. "jestə-

He lies, he lay,
he has lain [laiz, lei, leɪn].

cushion feel like = want day, I lay down after dinner, and before long I was di, ai lei daun a:ftə dinə, ənd bi'fɔ: lɔŋ ai wəz asleep. When you lie down on the sofa after a day's ə'sli:p. hwen ju: lai daun ɔn ðə soufə a:ftər ə deiz work and a nice dinner, you feel like a good sleep. But wə:k ənd ə nais dinə, ju: fi:l laik ə gud sli:p. bət perhaps you would like me to help you to hang up the pə'hæps ju: wəd laik mi: tə help ju: tə hæŋ ʌp ðə photograph? When we moved into this house, I put in fəʊtəgrɑ:f? hwen wi: mu:vɪd intə ðis haʊs, ai put in the nails for all the pictures. I will go downstairs to ðə neilz fər ɔ:l ðə pɪktʃəz. ai wil ɡo 'daʊn'steəz tə get a nail for your photograph. It will be a good thing ɡet ə neil fə jɔ: fəʊtəgrɑ:f. it wil bi: ə gud piŋ to get it hung up at once; then the room will begin to tə ɡet it hʌŋ ʌp ət wʌns; ðen ðə ru:m wil bi'ɡin tə look a little like home to you." Storm wanted to hang lʊk ə litt laik haʊm tə ju:." stɔ:m wəntɪd tə hæŋ the photograph over the chest of drawers, and as it was ðə fəʊtəgrɑ:f ɒvə ðə tʃest əv drɔ:əz, ənd əz it wəz too high for them to reach, Marshall stood on a chair. tu: haɪ fə ðəm tə ri:tʃ, mɑ:fəl stʊd ɔn ə tʃeə.

He was then able to reach the place where it was to hi: wəz ðen eɪbl tə ri:tʃ ðə pleɪs hweər it wəz tə hang, and before long the nail was in the wall and hæŋ, ənd bi'fɔ: lɔŋ ðə neil wəz in ðə wɔ:l ənd Storm's photograph put up. stɔ:mz fəʊtəgrɑ:f put ʌp.

THE FOUR PEOPLES OF THE BRITISH ISLES

"I noticed that one of the men to whom I was introduced to-day explained that he was a Scotchman, not 'dju:st tə'dei iks'pleind ðət hi: wəz ə skɒtʃmən, nɒl an Englishman. Wasn't that rather a strange thing to ən iŋɡlɪʃmən. wəznt ðæt rɑ:ðər ə streɪndʒ piŋ tə say?" asked Storm. "You may think so, but that is sei?" ə:skt stə:m. "ju: mei piŋk sou, bət ðæt iz only because you're a stranger. People in foreign ounli bi'kəz juər ə streɪndʒə. pi:pl in fərin countries speak about this country as England and the kʌntriz spi:k ə'baʊt ðis kʌntri əz iŋɡlənd ənd ðə people as English, and know nothing about the existence pi:pl əz iŋɡlɪʃ, ənd nou nʌpiŋ ə'baʊt ði ig'zɪstəns of other nations in the British Isles, but there are əv ʌðə neɪʃənz in ðə brɪtɪʃ aɪlz, bət ðeə really four different countries, England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland, with four different nations, the land, ənd aɪələnd, wɪð fə: dɪfərənt neɪʃənz, ði English, the Welsh, the Scotch, and the Irish. In Wales, iŋɡlɪʃ, ðə wɛlʃ, ðə skɒtʃ, ənd ði aɪərɪʃ. in weɪlz, isle = island

waitress

tray

place = put table, coming to take their order. "Here comes the teibl, kʌmiŋ tə teik ðeər ɔ:də. "hiə kʌmz ðə waitress," said Storm; "I'm glad to see her, for I'm very weɪtrɪs," sed stɔ:m; "aɪm glæd tə si: hə:, fər aɪm veri hungry to-day."

hʌŋgri tə'deɪ."

They ordered their lunch, and in two or three minutes ðei ɔ:dəd ðeə lʌnf, ənd in tu: ə ʒri: minɪts the waitress was back again, carrying the food on a ðə weɪtrɪs wəz bæk ə'geɪn, kæriiŋ ðə fu:d ɔn ə tray. One of the most important things on the treɪ. wʌn əv ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt ʒɪŋz ɔn ðə waitress's tray was a big pot of tea. Storm had now weɪtrɪsɪz treɪ wəz ə bɪg pɒt əv ti:. stɔ:m həd naʊ learned to drink tea as often as an Englishman. The lə:nd tə driŋk ti: əz ɔ:fən əz ən ɪŋɡlɪʃmən. ðə waitress placed the pot of tea and the other things on weɪtrɪs pleɪst ðə pɒt əv ti: ənd ði ʌðə ʒɪŋz ɔn the table and went away. Although the food had been ðə teibl ənd went ə'wei. ɔ:lðəʊ ðə fu:d həd bi:n placed on the table, Storm continued to look at the pleɪst ɔn ðə teibl, stɔ:m kən'tɪnju:d tə luk ət ðə prices on the menu. "I thought you said you were praɪsɪz ɔn ðə menju:. "aɪ þɔ:t ju: sed ju: wə:

hungry, but you seem to be much more interested in hʌŋgri, bət ju: si:m tə bi: mʌʃ mɔ:r ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn the menu than in the food itself," Marshall said to him, ðə menju: ðən ɪn ðə fu:d ɪt'self," mɑ:ʃəl sed tə him, think it will be better if I explain to you all the details þiŋk it wil bi: betər if ai iks'plein tə ju: ɔ:l ðə di:teɪlz of our monetary system, especially as you seem to have əv əʊə mənɪtəri sistim, is'pefəli əz ju: si:m tə hæv so much trouble in finding out what things really sou mʌtʃ trʌbl in faɪndɪŋ aʊt hwət þɪŋz riəli cost," Marshall told his friend. "I should be glad if you kɒst," mɑ:fəl təʊld hɪz frend. "ai ʃəd bi: glæd if ju:

would give me all the details about English money.
wəd gɪv mi: ɔ:l ðə di:teɪlz ə'baʊt ɪŋɡlɪʃ mʌni.

Before you start, however, you had better pour me bɪ'fɔ: ju: stɑ:t, haʊ'evə, ju: həd betə pɔ: mi:

another cup of tea," Storm said. ə'nʌðə kʌp əv ti:," stɔ:m sed.

Some of the tea went on the table and over the edge sʌm əv ðə ti: went ɒn ðə teɪbl ənd oʊvə ði edʒ of the table on to the floor. Marshall said, "I'm sorry, əv ðə teɪbl ɒn tə ðə flɔ:. mɑ:fəl sed, "aɪm sɔ:ri,

I wasn't very careful, but it doesn't matter so much as ai wəznt veri keəfʊl, bət ɪt dʌznt mætə sou mʌtʃ əz there is no cloth on the table, and the floor isn't very ðəz nəʊ klɒθ ɒn ðə teɪbl, ənd ðə flɔ:r ɪznt veri clean. If you want a restaurant where they have cloths kli:n. if ju: wənt ə restərɔ:ŋ hwɛə ðeɪ hæv klɒθs on the tables and clean floors, you must pay more for ɒn ðə teɪblz ənd kli:n flɔ:z, ju: mʌst peɪ mɔ: ʃə your meals," he continued laughing. "But if you will jɔ: mi:lz," hi: kən'tɪnju:d lɑ:fɪŋ. "bət if ju: wil

American Indian

world three metals were used for coins before the war wə:ld pri: mellz wə: ju:zd fə kɔɪnz bi'fə: ðə wə:r of 1914—1918. Gold had the greatest əv nainti:n fə:ti:n tə nainti:n eiti:n. gould hæd ðə greɪlɪst value of the three metals that were used for money, vælju: əv ðə pri: mellz ðæt wə: ju:zd fə mʌni, and silver was next in value. Silver is the sort of metal ænd silvə wəz nekst in vælju:. silvə iz ðə sɔ:t əv mell my parents' forks and spoons are made of," Marshall maɪ peərənts fɔ:ks ænd spu:nz a: meɪd əv," mɑ:fəl explained. "The third metal was copper, a metal of a ɪks'pleɪnd. "ðə þə:d mell wəz kɒpə, ə mell əv ə red colour. Copper is the same colour as an American red kʌlə. kɒpə iz ðə seɪm kʌlə əz ən ə'merɪkən Indian. Nowadays, however, it would be very difficult to ɪndʒən. naʊədeɪz, haʊ'evə, ɪt wəd bi: veri dɪfɪkəlt tə find a gold coin; paper money is used instead. In Engfaɪnd ə gould kɔɪn; peɪpə mʌni iz ju:zd ɪn'sted. ɪn ɪŋ-land we use a pound note and a ten shilling note instead glænd wi: ju:z ə paʊnd nout ænd ə ten fɪlɪŋ nout ɪn'sted of the gold sovereign and half-sovereign. Until some əv ðə gould səvərɪn ænd hɑ:f səvərɪn. ʌn'tɪl sʌm time after the war of 1939—1945 taɪm a:ftə ðə wə:r əv nainti:n þə:ti nain tə nainti:n fə:ti'faɪv, we had coins that people spoke of and thought of as wi: hæd kɔɪnz ðæt pi:pl spəʊk əv ænd þɔ:t əv əz silver coins. In reality, we had no coins in England silvə kɔɪnz. ɪn rɪ'ælɪti, wi: hæd nou kɔɪnz ɪn ɪŋglænd that were made of silver only; we had no coins of ðæt wə: meɪd əv sɪlvər ounli; wi: hæd nou kɔɪnz əv any sort or size that were made of pure metals. Less eni sɔ:t ɔ: saɪz ðæt wə: meɪd əv pjʊə mellz. les than half of the metal of the so-called silver coins was ðæn ha:f əv ðə mell əv ðə soukɔ:ld sɪlvə kɔɪnz wəz silver. However, in order to pay America in silver some sɪlvə. hau'evə, ɪn ɔ:də tə peɪ ə'merɪkə ɪn sɪlvə sʌm of the money we owe her, we changed instead to a əv ðə mʌni wi: ou hæ:, wi: tʃeɪndʒd ɪn'stəd tu ə mixture of copper and nickel. The old copper coins, mɪksʃər əv kɒpər ænd nɪkl. ði ould kɒpər kɔɪnz, however, have not been changed and are still the same hauevə, hæv nɒt bi:n tʃeɪndʒd ænd a: stɪl ðə seɪm as they were, made of a mixture of copper and some əz ðeɪ wə:, meɪd əv ə mɪksʃər əv kɒpər ænd sʌm other metal. The world is full of paper money, and it ʌðə mell. ðə wɜ:ld ɪz fʊl əv peɪpə mʌni, ænd ɪt is hardly possible to find a coin of any real value. It ɪz hæ:dli pɒsəbl tə faɪnd ə kɔɪn əv enɪ rɪəl vælju:. ɪt is not very often that coins are pure; they're mostly ɪz nɒt veri ɔ:fən ðæt kɔɪnz a: pjʊə; ðeə maʊstli mixtures of at least two metals. Now I will tell you mɪksʃəz əv ət li:st tu: mellz. naʊ aɪ wɪl tel ju:

about the English coins and at the same time show ə'baʊt ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ kɔɪnz ænd ət ðə seɪm taɪm ʃəʊ you what they look like, for I have some in my pocket." ju: hwət ðeɪ lʊk laɪk, fɔr aɪ hæv sʌm ɪn maɪ pɒkɪt." and is written £3/5/3." ənd ɪz rɪtɪn . . .

"Thank you, Marshall; it is all clear to me now, but I ˈpæŋk juː, mɑːʃəl; ɪt ɪz ɔːl kliə tə miː naʊ, bət aɪ must say that I can't see the advantage of having mʌst seɪ ðæt aɪ kɑːnt siː ði ədˈvɑːntɪdʒ əv hæviŋ pounds, shillings, pence, and farthings. It seems very paʊndz, ʃɪlɪŋz, pɛns, ənd ʃɑːðɪŋz. ɪt siːmz veri foolish to me, as shillings and pence would be quite fuːlɪʃ tə miː, əz ʃɪlɪŋz ənd pɛns wəd biː kwaɪt enough." "I might mention, Storm, that only English ɪˈnʌʃ." ˈaɪ maɪt mɛnfən, stɔːm, ðæt ounli ɪŋɡlɪʃ business men would say £3/5/3. Nearly bɪznɪs mɛn wəd seɪ priː paʊndz ʃaɪv-ənd-priː. niəli everybody else = any other person everybody else would prefer to express it 65/3." evrɪbɒdi els wəd priːfəː tu ɪksˈpres ɪt sɪkstiˈʃaɪvənd priː."

"Then," Storm answered, "there is no doubt that the ˈðen," stɔːm ɑːnsəd, ˈðəz nou daʊt ðæt ði English system is foolish. In my country we always ɪŋɡlɪʃ sɪstɪm ɪz fuːlɪʃ. ɪn maɪ kʌntri wiː ɔːlwəz say that it is foolish to do things in such a way that seɪ ðæt ɪt ɪz fuːlɪʃ tə duː ʒɪŋz ɪn sʌʃ ə wei ðæt they give extra work. But I think that we have spent ðeɪ gɪv ɛkstrə wəːk. bət aɪ ʒɪŋk ðæt wiː hæv spɛnt enough time in talking about money. To finish my meal ɪˈnʌʃ taɪm ɪn təˈkiŋ əˈbaʊt mʌni. tə ʃɪnɪʃ maɪ miːl

I should like some cheese and another cup of tea. I find aɪ ʃəd laɪk səm tʃiːz ənd əˈnʌðə kʌp əv tiː. aɪ ʃaɪnd cheese

that the cheese in England is very good, and I always ðæt ðə ʈfi:z in iŋglənd iz veri gud, ənd ai ə:lwəz have a piece of bread and cheese for supper." "Yes," hæv ə pi:s əv bred ənd ʈfi:z fə sʌpə. "jes," said Marshall, "bread, a bit of cheese, and a good glass sed mɑ:fəl, "bred, ə bit əv ʈfi:z, ənd ə gud gla:s of beer make a fine end to the day. I like a glass of əv biə meik ə faɪn end tə ðə dei. ai laik ə gla:s əv beer before going to bed."

biə bi:ʃə: ɡəʊɪŋ tə bed."

bit = (small) piece

EXERCISE A.

When the clock — one, Storm and Marshall went out to lunch. Storm was interested in the prices on the — The — came with a — of tea and the food on a — and — it on the table. The American — is equal to one hundred — Sometimes Storm had much — in understanding English money and prices, so he wanted Marshall to give him all the — of their monetary system. Some of Storm's tea went over the — of the table on to the floor. There was no — on the table in the restaurant. Marshall asked Storm to — the sugar; he liked — things very much. Once, a pound was a — coin called a —.

Spoons and forks are sometimes made of —. — has not so great a — as silver; it is red like an —. Nowadays most coins are not made of — metals. Marshall took several coins out of his —; there were four copper coins: a threepenny bit, a penny, a —, and a —. A — is equal to threepence. Two threepenny bits have the strike struck menu

WORDS:

waitress
pot
tray
place (verb) dollar cent trouble detail edge cloth pass sweet gold sovereign

Rugby football any difficulty in following it. The other kind is called eni difikælti in fəlouɪŋ it. ði ʌðə kaɪnd ɪz kɔːld Rugby after the famous school where it was first rʌɡbi ɑːftə ðə feɪməs skuːl hwɛər ɪt wəz fəːst played.” Storm: “I have never seen any Rugby footpleɪd.” stɔːm: “aɪ hæv nevə siːn eni rʌɡbi futball.” “Then you would not understand much of it, bɔːl.” “ðen juː wəd nɒt ʌndəˈstænd mʌtʃ əv ɪt, for the rules of the game are quite different from those fə ðə ruːlz əv ðə geɪm ɑː kwaɪt dɪfrənt frəm ðəʊz of the kind of football you know. There are fifteen əv ðə kaɪnd əv futbɔːl juː nou. ðeə ˈfɪftiːn players; they may carry the ball in their hands if they pleɪəz; ðeɪ meɪ kæri ðə bɔːl ɪn ðeə hændz ɪf ðeɪ like; and the ball itself is not round.” laɪk; ənd ðə bɔːl ɪtˈself ɪz nɒt raʊnd.”

“I am very surprised,” Storm replied; “I have never “aɪ əm veri səˈpraɪzd,” stɔːm riˈplaɪd; “aɪ hæv nevə heard how it is played, but from what you say, I under-hɜːd haʊ ɪt ɪz pleɪd, bʌt frəm hwɒt juː sei, aɪ ʌndəstand that the rules of the game must be very different ˈstænd ðæt ðə ruːlz əv ðə geɪm mʌst biː veri dɪfrənt from the rules of the kind of football that is played in frəm ðə ruːlz əv ðə kaɪnd əv futbɔːl ðæt ɪz pleɪd ɪn my country. I don’t see how it is possible to kick a ball maɪ kʌntri. aɪ daʊnt siː haʊ ɪt ɪz pɒsəbl tə kɪk ə bɔːl straight if it’s not round. I’m sure it must be much streɪt ɪf ɪts nɒt raʊnd. aɪm suər ɪt mʌst biː mʌtʃ something about the English football clubs: "In the sʌmpɪŋ ə'baʊt ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ fʊtbɔ:l klʌbz: "in ðə best known football clubs in England the players are best noun fʊtbɔ:l klʌbz in ɪŋɡlənd ðə pleɪəz a: professionals, which means that football is their work, prə'fesənəlz, hwɪtʃ mi:nz ðæt fʊtbɔ:l ɪz ðeə wə:k, not only a game that gives them pleasure. As it is nɒt ɒnli ə geɪm ðæt gɪvz ðəm pleʒə. əz ɪt ɪz necessary for a professional football player to be able nesəsəri fə ə prə'fesənəl fʊtbɔ:l pleɪə tə bi: eɪbl to run very fast, he must not only have good legs, but tə rʌn veri fɑ:st, hi: mʌst nɒt ɒnli hæv gud legz, bʌt also very good lungs. It is also very important to have ɔ:lsoʊ veri gud lʌŋz. ɪt ɪz ɔ:lsoʊ veri ɪm'pɔ:tənt tə hæv a strong heart. Without especially good lungs and a a strɒŋ hɑ:t. wɪð'aʊt ɪs'peʃəli gud lʌŋz ənd ə strong heart, a man will not be able to last very long strɒŋ hɑ:t, ə mæn wɪl nɒt bi: eɪbl tə ˈlɑ:st veri lɒŋ as a professional. These are two of the most important əz ə prə'fesənəl. ði:z a: tu: əv ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt things required of a professional, but, besides, he has þɪŋz rɪ'kwaɪəd əv ə prə'fesənəl, bʌt, bɪ'saɪdz, hi: hæz to be in very good health, for if he has not got that, tə bi: ɪn veri gud helθ, fə ɪf hi: hæz nɒt ɡɒt ðæt, he cannot play football. A professional must, therefore, hi: kənɒt pleɪ fʊtbɔ:l. ə prə'fesənəl mʌst, ðeəfɔ:, give much attention to his health. These players are ɡɪv mʌtʃ ə'tenʃən tə hɪz helθ. ði:z pleɪəz a:

lungs

heart to last = to continue to be in good health = not to be ill

give attention to = attend to nearly always thinking of their health, giving it even niəli ɔ:lweɪs θɪŋkɪŋ əv ðə helθ, gɪvɪŋ ɪt ɪ:vən more attention than they give to their practice in playing mɔ:ə ə'tenʃən ðən ðeɪ gɪv tə ðə præk'tɪs ɪn pleɪɪŋ football or their exercise in running, jumping, kicking, fʊtbɔ:l ɔ: ðeə ɛksəsaɪz ɪn rʌnɪŋ, dʒʌmpɪŋ, kɪkɪŋ.

etc. Many of them smoke and drink very little. Just ɪ'setɹə. meni əv ðəm sməʊk ənd drɪŋk vɛrɪ lɪtl. dʒʌst as the ladies at Hollywood are proud of their legs, so, əz ðə leɪdɪz ət hɒliwʊd ɑ: prəʊd əv ðə legz, səʊ, too, are professionals. The muscles of their legs are tu:, ɑ: prə'feʃənəlz. ðə mʌslz əv ðə legz ɑ:

quite hard. They take exercise in running, kicking, kwaɪt ha:d. ðeɪ teɪk ɛksəsaɪz ɪn rʌnɪŋ, kɪkɪŋ, and jumping every day, and this makes the muscles ənd dʒʌmpɪŋ evrɪ deɪ, ənd ðɪs meɪks ðə mʌslz of their legs hard.”

əv ðə legz ha:d.”

Storm and Marshall had been waiting for the game to stɔ:m ənd mɑ:ʃəl həd bi:n weɪtɪŋ fə ðə geɪm tə start, and now the whistle was blown. Storm noticed stɑ:t, ənd naʊ ðə hwɪsl wəz bləʊn. stɔ:m nəʊtɪst that the grass was not particularly good, and in some ðæt ðə grɑ:s wəz nɒt pə'tɪkjʊləli gu:d, ənd ɪn sʌm places he was even able to see the earth itself under pleɪsɪz hi: wəz ɪ:vən eɪbl tə si: ðɪ ə:p ɪt'self ʌndə the grass. “Where I play football at home, you can ðə grɑ:s. “hweə ɑɪ pleɪ fʊtbɔ:l ət haʊm, ju: kən sport = swimming, riding, hunting, fishing, etc.

they've = they have to their credit = in their favour

A large number of men were present either to take ə la:dʒ nʌmbə əv men wə: prɛznt aɪðə tə teɪk photographs or to write reports of the match for the fəʊtəgrɑ:fz ɔ: tə raɪt rɪ'pɔ:ts əv ðə mætʃ fə ðə newspapers, which always bring long reports of all that nju:spɛɪpəz, hwi:tʃ ɔ:lweɪz brɪŋ lɔŋ rɪ'pɔ:ts əv ɔ:l ðət has taken place in the world of sport.

həz teɪkən pleɪs ɪn ðə wɜ:ld əv spɔ:t.

There had been about 50,000 people at the match, ðeə həd bi:n ə'baʊt fɪfti haʊzənd pi:pl at ðə mætʃ.

and when the two friends left the place, it was almost ænd hwen ðə tu: frendz left ðə pleɪs, ɪt wəz ɔ:lmaʊst impossible to take more than one short step at a time.

ɪm'pɔsəbl tə teɪk mɔ: ðən wʌn ʃɔ:t step at ə taɪm.

"It is rather tiring to have to take such small ladies'

"ɪt ɪz rɑ:ðə taɪərɪŋ tə hæv tə teɪk sʌtʃ smɔ:l leɪdɪz steps," said Marshall, laughing. Storm: "How many steps," sed mɑ:ʃəl, lɑ:fɪŋ. stɔ:m: "haʊ meni matches have Arsenal played this season?" Marshall:

mætʃɪz hæv a:sɪnl pleɪd ðɪs si:zn?" mɑ:ʃəl:

"Counting the one to-day, they've played six times, but

"kaʊntɪŋ ðə wʌn tə'deɪ, ðeɪv pleɪd sɪks taɪmz, bʌt once they didn't win, so that there are five matches wʌnz ðeɪ dɪdnt wɪn, sɔʊ ðət ðeə faɪv mætʃɪz to their credit. I remember that some years ago they tə ðeə kredɪt. aɪ rɪ'membə ðət sam jɪəz ə'gəʊ ðeɪ played eighteen matches on the Continent and came pleɪd 'eɪti:n mætʃɪz ɔn ðə kɒntɪnənt ænd keɪm very wide, with room enough for the great bus traffic veri waid, wið ru:m i'nʌf fə ðə greit bʌs træfik to East London. Most of the side streets in this part tu i:st lʌndən. mʌst əv ðə saɪd stri:tɪz ɪn ðɪs pɑ:t of the town, however, were not very wide.

əv ðə taʊn, haʊ'evə, wə: nɒt veri waid.

Marshall: "A place of this kind, where people do their mɑ:fəl: "ə pleɪs əv ðɪs kaɪnd, hʌwə pi:pl du: ðeə buying not only in the shops, but in the street itself, baɪɪŋ nɒt ɒnli ɪn ðə ʃɒps, bʌt ɪn ðə stri:t ɪt'self, we call a street market. All over the country we have wi: kɔ:l ə stri:t mɑ:kɪt. ɔ:l ɒvə ðə kʌntri wi: hæv street markets like this."

stri:t mɑ:kɪts laɪk ðɪs."

Many of the sellers had baskets on their arms, others meni əv ðə seləz həd bɑ:skɪts ɒn ðeər a:mz, ʌðəz were holding up their goods in both hands, so that wə: hoʊldɪŋ ʌp ðeə gʊdz ɪn bəʊθ hændz, sɒ ðæt everybody might see what they had. If the goods were evrɪbɒdi maɪt si: hʌwɪt ðeɪ həd. ɪf ðə gʊdz wə:

not held up in this way, the sellers would not do so nɒt held ʌp ɪn ðɪs weɪ, ðə seləz wʊd nɒt du: sɒ much business. Storm and Marshall looked into many mʌʃ bɪznɪs. stɔ:m ənd mɑ:fəl lʊkt ɪntə meni of the baskets, sometimes asking the prices of the goods.

əv ðə bɑ:skɪts, sʌmtaɪmz ɑ:skɪŋ ðə praɪsɪz əv ðə gʊdz.

Storm heard that the prices were very low, but Mar-stɔ:m hɜ:d ðæt ðə praɪsɪz wə: veri laʊ, bʌt mɑ:- wide = broad market

basket

to hold up = to lift

He holds, he held, he has held [hoʊldz, held, held].

once surround him so that it was difficult for him to wʌns sə'raʊnd him sou ðæt it wəz difɪkəlt fə him tə get away.
get ə'weɪ.

Storm suddenly saw a strange sight, one of the strangest stɔ:m sʌdnli sɔ: ə streɪndʒ saɪt, wʌn əv ðə streɪndʒɪst sights he had ever seen, a monkey sitting on a man's saɪts hi: həd evə si:n, ə mʌŋki sɪtɪŋ ɒn ə mæn shoulder with the man's hat in its hand. The man was ʃouldə wɪð ðə mænʒ hæʔ ɪn ɪts hænd. ðə mæn wəz not able to see, for he was blind. On his coat was a nɒt eɪbl tə si:, fə hi: wəz blaɪnd. ɒn hɪz kəʊt wəz ə piece of paper with the word 'blind', so that people pi:s əv peɪpə wɪð ðə wə:d 'blaɪnd', sou ðæt pi:pl might know that he could not see. The monkey was maɪt nəʊ ðæt hi: kʊd nɒt si:. ðə mʌŋki wəz holding out the blind man's hat, and many people put haʊldɪŋ aʊt ðə blaɪnd mænʒ hæʔ, ənd menɪ pi:pl put.. money into it. It seemed to like its work, and some-meni ɪntu ɪt. ɪt si:md tə laɪk ɪts wə:k, ənd sʌmtimes it jumped from one shoulder of the man to the taɪmz ɪt dʒʌmpt frəm wʌn ʃouldə əv ðə mæn tə ði other.

ʌðə.

A little later, they discovered a man selling knives ə lɪtl leɪtə, ðeɪ dɪs'kʌvəd ə mæn selɪŋ naɪvz which were so cheap that Storm wanted to buy one; hwi:ʃ wə: sou tʃi:p ðæt stɔ:m wəntɪd tə baɪ wʌn;

but Marshall told him that if he wanted a sharp knife, bət ma:fəl tould him ðət if hi: wɒntɪd ə ʃa:p naɪf.

that is, a knife that is really able to cut, he would ðæt ɪz, ə naɪf ðət ɪz riəli eɪbl tə, kʌt, hi: wəd have to go somewhere else for it, as it was impossible hæv tə ɡoʊ sʌmhwɛər els fər ɪt, əz ɪt wəz ɪm'pɒsəbl to get a sharp knife very cheap.

tə ɡet ə ʃa:p naɪf veri tʃi:p.

Marshall suddenly noticed that Storm was not there, ma:fəl sʌdnli nɒtɪst ðət stɔ:m wəz nɒt ðeə, and he could not see him anywhere. Five minutes ænd hi: kʊd nɒt si: him enɪhwɛə. faɪv mɪnɪts passed, and then Storm appeared again, returning round pɑ:st, ænd ðen stɔ:m ə'piəd ə'ɡeɪn, rɪ'tɜ:nɪŋ raʊnd the corner of a side street with a small parcel in his ðə kɔ:nər əv ə saɪd stri:t wɪð ə smɔ:l pɑ:sl ɪn hɪz hand. "It is always hard for me to find my way about hænd. "ɪt ɪz ə:lweɪz hɑ:d fə mi: tə faɪnd maɪ wei ə'baʊt the streets of London, so when I saw a man selling maps ðə stri:ts əv lʌndən, sɒw hwen aɪ sɔ: ə mæn selɪŋ mæps of London which were both large and cheap, I bought əv lʌndən hwɪtʃ wə: bəʊp la:dʒ ænd tʃi:p, aɪ bɔ:t one," Storm explained. "I was really very glad," said wʌn," stɔ:m ɪks'pleɪnd. "aɪ wəz riəli veri ɡlæd," sed Marshall, "to see you appear once more. Although the ma:fəl, "tə si: ju: ə'piə wʌnz mɔ:. ə'lðəʊ ðə parcel you have in your hand is very small, there seems pɑ:sl ju: hæv ɪn jɔ: hænd ɪz veri smɔ:l, ðeə si:mz parcel hard = difficult

map to be more in it than a map of London." "Perhaps," tə bi: mɔ:ɹ in it ðən ə mæp əv lʌndən. "pə'hæps," said Storm, "I bought one or two other things at the sed stɔ:m, "ai bɔ:t wʌn ə tu: ʌðə þɪŋz ət ðə same time; who knows?" "I won't ask you to tell me seɪm taɪm; hu: nəʊz?" "ai wəʊnt ɑ:sk ju: tə tel mi:

what you have bought, of course. I only hope that you'll hwɒt ju: hæv bɔ:t, əv kɔ:s. ai ɒnli hoʊp ðət ju:l not be sorry later on and regret that you bought it." nɒt bi: sɔ:ri leɪtə ɔn ənd rɪ'ɡret ðət ju: bɔ:t it."

"What I have bought," Storm replied, "is both of good "hwɒt ai hæv bɔ:t," stɔ:m rɪ'plaɪd, "ɪz boʊp əv ɡʊd quality and cheap, so that I'm quite sure that I shan't kweɪlɪti ənd tʃi:p, sʊ ðət aɪm kweɪt suə ðət ai ʃɑ:nt regret it. Remember, Marshall," he said, laughing, rɪ'ɡret ɪt. rɪ'membə, mɑ:ʃəl," hi: sed, lɑ:fɪŋ,

"that the money came out of my pocket and not yours."
"ðət ðə mʌni keɪm aʊt əv maɪ pɒkɪt ənd nɒt jɔ:z."

"It is almost too hot to-day," said Marshall, "to enter "ɪt ɪz ɔ:lmoʊst tu: hɒt tə'deɪ," sed mɑ:ʃəl, "tu ɛntə into a discussion. I think it must be 90° (degrees) ɪntu ə dɪs'kʌʃən. ai þɪŋk ɪt mʌst bi: naɪntɪ dɪ'ɡri:z in the shade, so it is no wonder if we feel a little hot ɪn ðə ʃeɪd, sʊ ɪt ɪz nəʊ wʌndəɹ ɪf wi: fi:l ə lɪtl hɒt here in the sun. I propose that we cross the street to hɪə ɪn ðə sʌn. ai prə'pəʊz ðət wi: krɒs ðə stri:t tə get into the shade on the other side of the street." ɡet ɪntə ðə ʃeɪd ɔn ðɪ ʌðə saɪd əv ðə stri:t." shan't = shall not ninety degrees Fahrenheit [færənhaɪt] = 32.2° (thirty-two point two degrees) Celsius [sɛl/si:z]

A BUSY SUNDAY

Marshall explained to Storm that the so-called East ma:fəl iks'pleind tə stɔ:m ðət ðə soukɔ:ld i:st

End, where they were now, is part of East London. end, hwɛə ðei wə: nau, iz pɑ:t əv i:st lʌndən.

"Most of the people in the East End are very poor," "moust əv ðə pi:pl in ði i:st end a: veri puə," he said, "and you will often find two families living hi: sed, "ənd ju: wil ɔ:fn faɪnd tu: fæmiliz livɪŋ together in the same flat or in a one-family house. tə'geðər in ðə seɪm flæt ɔ:r in ə wʌnfæmili haʊs.

These people live under very bad conditions, but the ði:z pi:pl liv ʌndə veri bæd kən'dɪʃənz, bət ðə poor in the large cities all over the world live under puə in ðə la:dʒ sitiz ɔ:l ɒvə ðə wɜ:ld liv ʌndə conditions just as bad, I think." kən'dɪʃənz dʒʌst əz bæd, aɪ þɪŋk."

To Storm's question if there were any stores in this tə stɔ:mz kwestʃən ɪf ðeə wə:r eni stɔ:z in ðɪs part of the town, Marshall answered, "You will not pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn, ma:fəl a:nsəd, "ju: wil nɒt find many stores in the East End; most of the shops faɪnd menɪ stɔ:z in ði i:st end; moust əv ðə ʃɒps here are rather small. You will notice that fruit is hiə a: rɑ:ðə smɔ:l. ju: wil nɒtɪs ðət fru:t ɪz store = a very large shop, selling all kinds of goods

store

cheap in the East End. I must remember to buy some tʃi:p in ði i:st end. ai məst ri'membə tə bai səm fruit for my mother, because the price here is much fru:t fə mai mʌðə. bi'kəz ðə praɪs hiə ɪz mʌtʃ lower than in our suburb." ləʊə ðən in ʌə səbʊ:b."

After having bought the fruit, Marshall said that there ɑ:ftə hævɪŋ bɔ:t ðə fru:t, mɑ:ʃəl sed ðæt ðəə were two or three streets that he wished to show Storm. wə: tu: ə pri: stri:tɪz ðæt hi: wɪʃt tə ʃəʊ stɔ:m.

"They sell nothing but cats, dogs, birds, and other

"ðei sel nəθɪŋ bʌt kæts, dɔgz, bɜ:dz, ənd ʌðə domestic animals in those streets. We English love də'mestɪk ænɪməlz ɪn ðəʊz stri:tɪz. wi: ɪŋɡlɪʃ lʌv domestic animals very much, and every Sunday morning də'mestɪk ænɪməlz vɛrɪ mʌtʃ, ənd evri sʌndɪ mɔ:nɪŋ large numbers of cats, dogs, and birds are sold in the lɑ:dʒ nʌmbəz ɔf kæts, dɔgz, ənd bɜ:dz ɑ: sɔld ɪn ði

East End."

i:st end."

Before long they reached one of the streets that Marbɪ'fɔ: lɔŋ ðei ri:tʃt wʌn əv ðə stri:tɪz ðæt mɑ:- shall had mentioned, and they saw that every third or ʃəl həd menʃənd, ənd ðei sɔ: ðæt evri þɜ:d ə fourth person had bought a dog and had it on a chain. fɔ:θ pɜ:sn həd bɔ:t ə dɔg ənd həd ɪt ɒn ə tʃeɪn.

Storm: "I am always sorry to see a man walking with stɔ:m: "ai əm ɔ:lweɪz sɔri tə si: ə mæn wɔ:kɪŋ wɪð on a chain = at the end of a chain his dog on a chain, but of course it is necessary for a hiz dɔg ɒn ə tʃeɪn, bət əv kɔ:s it ɪz nesɪsəri fər ə man who has just bought a dog to have it on a chain mæn hu: həz dʒʌst bɔ:t ə dɔg tə hæv it ɒn ə tʃeɪn at first every time he walks out with it, until he is ət fə:st evri taɪm hi: wɔ:ks aʊt wɪð it, ʌn'tɪl hi: ɪz sure that the dog knows its new home and will not fʊə ðæt ðə dɔg nəʊz ɪts nju: haʊm ænd wɪl nɒt run away. After that he may let it run loose when rʌn ə'weɪ. a:ftə ðæt hi: meɪ let it rʌn lu:s hweŋ he takes it out." Marshall: "I quite agree with you, hi: teɪks ɪt aʊt." mɑ:fəl: "aɪ kwaɪt ə'gri: wɪð ju: but it is not always possible. In this busy part of the bət ɪt ɪz nɒt ɔ:lweɪz pɒsəbl. ɪn ðɪs bɪzi pɑ:t əv ðə town, for example, you cannot let the dogs run loose, taʊn, fər ɪg'zɑ:mpl, ju: kænɒt let ðə dɔgz rʌn lu:s, for they would very quickly run into the middle of fə ðeɪ wəd veri kwɪkli rʌn ɪntə ðə mɪdl əv the street and, perhaps, get under a car or get run over, ðə stri:t ænd, pə'hæps, get ʌndə ə kɑ: ɔ: get rʌn oʊvə. as we say In several of the suburbs, however, it is əz weɪ seɪ. ɪn sevrəl əv ðə sʌbə:bz, haʊ'evə, ɪt ɪz possible to let them go loose. Speaking of dogs, I don't pɒsəbl tə let ðəm ɡoʊ lu:s. spi:kɪŋ əv dɔgz, aɪ daʊnt like the way some kinds of dogs have part of their tails laɪk ðə weɪ sʌm kaɪndz əv dɔgz hæv pɑ:t əv ðeə teɪlz cut off just because it is thought beautiful by some of kʌt ɔ:f dʒʌst bɪ'kɔz ɪt ɪz þɔ:t bju:təfʊl baɪ sʌm əv fourth or the twenty-fifth of December, because they 'fɔ:θ ɔ: ðə twenti'fifθ əv dɪ'sembə, bi'kɔz ðei think it the proper thing to do, or, perhaps, because θɪŋk ɪt ðə prɒpə θɪŋ tə du:, ɔ:, pə'hæps, bi'kɔz they have always done so; -but there are, of course, ðei hæv ɔ:lweɪs dʌn soʊ; bət ðeə ɑ:, əv kɔ:s, also a great many people who go to church every Sunday ɔ:lsoʊ ə greɪt meni pi:pl hu: goʊ tə tʃə:tʃ evri sʌndi because they really want to."

bi'kɔz ðei riəli wɒnt tu:."

It took the two friends more time to get through their ɪt tu:k ðə tu: frendz mɔ: taɪm tə get θru: ðeə lunch than they had expected. They spent more than lʌnʃ ðən ðei həd ɪkspektɪd. ðei spent mɔ: ðən two hours eating and reading the Sunday papers. "We tu: aʊəs i:tiŋ ənd ri:diŋ ðə sʌndi peɪpəz. "wi:

are a little late now," Marshall said. "There is a service ɑ:r ə litl leɪt naʊ," mɑ:ʃəl sed. "ðəz ə sə:vɪs in a church a quarter of an hour's walk from here, so ɪn ə tʃə:tʃ ə kwɔ:tər əv ən aʊəs wɔ:k frəm hiə, soʊ we must hurry." When they reached the church, the wi: məst hʌri." hwen ðei ri:tʃt ðə tʃə:tʃ, ðə service had already begun, and the clergyman had sə:vɪs həd ɔ:l'redi bi'gʌn, ənd ðə klə:dʒimən həd just appeared. Before the clergyman began to speak, dʒʌst ə'piəd. bi'fɔ: ðə klə:dʒimən bi'gʌn tə spi:k, however, Marshall found time to say to Storm in a very haʊevə, mɑ:ʃəl faʊnd taɪm tə sei tə stɔ:m ɪn ə veri clergyman

a restaurant for a cup of tea. "We've had a very busy a restərɔ:ŋ fər ə kʌp əv ti:. "wi:v hæd ə veri bizi day," said Storm, "and I think that your programme dei," sed stɔ:m, "ænd ai þiŋk ðæt jɔ: prougræm could hardly have been better." "Do you think, perkəd hu:dli həv bi:n betə." "du: ju: þiŋk, pəhaps," Marshall asked, "that our programme is finished 'hæps," ma:fəl a:skt, "ðæt auə prougræm iz finist already? Just as soon as we've had enough tea and ɔ:l'redi? dʒʌst əz su:n əz wi:v hæd i'nʌf ti: ənd bread and butter, we will go and see a good film." bred ənd bʌtə, wi: wil ɡoʊ ənd si: ə gud film."
 "See a good film!" said Storm in great surprise; "you "si: ə gud film!" sed stɔ:m in greit sə'praiz; "ju: must have forgotten that the cinemas are closed to-day." mʌst həv fə'ɡɒtn ðæt ðə siniməz a: klouzəd tə'dei."
 "That is again the strange idea that foreigners have of "ðæt iz ə'geɪn ðə streɪndʒ aɪ'diə ðæt fɔ:rinəz həv əv England. There are in all far more than 200 ɪŋɡlənd. ðær in ɔ:l fa: mɔ: ðən tu: haʊdrəd towns in England, in which the cinemas are open on taʊnz in ɪŋɡlənd, in hweɪtʃ ðə siniməz a:r ɒpən ɒn Sundays." sʌndɪz."

They went to a cinema in Leicester Square, and before ðei went tu ə sinimə in lestə skweə, ənd bi'fɔ: going in, stood for a time on one of the four sides of ɡoʊɪŋ in, stʊd fər ə taɪm ɒn wʌn əv ðə fɔ: saɪdz əv on account of = because of

page

race care about = feel interested in papers. Many of the men at the office sometimes buy peipaz. meni əv ðə men ət ði ɔfis saɪntaɪnz baɪ two or three papers a day. Is that because they're so tu: ə ʔri: peipaz ə dei. ɪz ðæt bi'kɔz ðəə sou interested in the latest news?" ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðə leɪtɪst nju:z?"

Marshall: "Not always; in most cases it is on account mɑ:ʃəl: "nɒt ɔ:lwəz; ɪn maʊst keɪsɪz ɪt ɪz ɔn ə'kaʊnt of their interest in sport. The evening papers usually əv ðəər ɪntrɪst ɪn spɔ:t. ði i:vɪnɪŋ peɪpəz ju:ʒuəlɪ have several pages, and in most cases only two or three hæv severəl peɪdʒɪz, ənd ɪn maʊst keɪsɪz ɔʊnli tu: ə ʔri: of the pages have news; on the rest there are reports əv ðə peɪdʒɪz hæv nju:z; ɔn ðə rest ðəə ri'pɔ:ts of big events in sport. But there is a limit to the əv bɪɡ i'vents ɪn spɔ:t. bət ðəz ə lɪmɪt tə ðə number of papers one can comfortably read, so I am nʌmbər əv peɪpəz wʌn kən kəmfa'təblɪ ri:d, sʊaɪ əm sure that the people who buy so many papers on days fʊə ðæt ðə pi:pl hu: baɪ sʊə meni peɪpəz ɔn deɪz when a horse-race, a bicycle-race, or a big football match hwen ə hɔ:sreɪs, ə baɪsaɪklreɪs, ɔ:r ə bɪɡ fʊtbɔ:l mætʃ takes place, only read a few words on each page. I teɪks pleɪs, ɔʊnli ri:d ə fju: wə:dz ɔn i:tʃ peɪdʒ. aɪ don't care much about the many pages of sport, myself; dəʊnt keə mʌtʃ ə'baʊt ðə meni peɪdʒɪz əv spɔ:t, maɪ'self; I'm more interested in the rest of the paper. There aɪm mɔ:r ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðə rest əv ðə peɪpə. ðəz

A VISIT TO THE HARBOUR OF LONDON

Storm had had a busy morning at the office; the stɔ:m həd həd ə bizi mɔ:niŋ at ði ɔfis; ðə manager's bell had rung for him at least five times. mænɪdʒəz bel həd rʌŋ fə him at li:st faɪv taimz.

"The old man does nothing but ring his bell for me "ði ould mæn dʌs nʌθɪŋ bət riŋ hiz bel fə mi:

this morning," Storm said to Marshall. While he was ðis mɔ:niŋ," stɔ:m sed tə mɑ:fəl. hwail hi: wəz speaking, the bell rang once more. When he had spi:kiŋ, ðə bel ræŋ wʌnz mɔ:. hwɛn hi: həd entered the manager's office, the manager began by entəd ðə mænɪdʒəz ɔfis, ðə mænɪdʒə bi'gæn bai saying, "You know that the harbour of London is the seɪɪŋ, "ju: nou ðæt ðə hæ:bər əv lʌndən iz ðə greatest harbour in existence, and that ships go from greɪtɪst hæ:bər ɪn ɪg'zɪstəns, and ðæt ʃɪps ɡoʊ frəm there to all parts of the world; but have you ever ðeə tu ɔ:l pɑ:ts əv ðə wɜ:ld; bət həv ju: evə visited it? If not," he continued, "there is a chance vɪzɪtɪd ɪt? ɪf nɒt," hi: kən'tɪnju:d, "ðəz ə tʃɑ:ns for you to do so to-day. I want you to go down to a fə ju: tə du: sɔu tə'deɪ. aɪ wɒnt ju: tə ɡoʊ daʊn tu ə ship lying in the harbour and speak to the captain of ʃɪp laɪɪŋ ɪn ðə hæ:bə and spi:k tə ðə kæptɪn əv

He rings, he rang, he has rung [rɪŋz, ræŋ, rʌŋ].

the old man = a name used in fun by clerks about the manager very poorly, but I hope that you'll be able to make veri puoli, bat ai houþ ðat ju:l bi: eibl tə meik out what he says, for I want you to tell him that he aut hwɔt hi: sez, fəɹ ai wɔnt ju: tə tel him ðat hi:

may give as many orders as he likes to the men on mei giv əz meni ɔ:dəz əz hi: laiks tə ðə men ɔn his ship, but that if the firm has any orders to give, hiz fip, bat ðat if ðə fə:m hæz eni ɔ:dəz tə giv,

I will give them. — We also want some goods that are ai wil giv ðəm. — wi: ɔ:lsou wɔnt səm gudz ðat a:

lying in the harbour, and on which duty must be paid laiɪŋ in ðə ha:bə, ənd ɔn hwɪtʃ dju:ti mɔst bi: peid first. We need the goods badly, because we have sold fə:st. wi: ni:d ðə gudz bædli, bi'kəz wi: hæv sould all that we had, so that we have no more in stock. If ɔ:l ðat wi: hæd, sou ðat wi: hæv nou mɔ:r in stɔk. if an article sells well, it's always best to have a good ən a:tɪkl selz wel, its ɔ:lwəz best tə hæv ə gud supply in stock. I will write out a cheque for the sə'plai in stɔk. ai wil rait aut ə tʃek fə ði amount of money that will have to be paid in duty, ə'maunt əv mʌni ðat wil hæv tə bi: peid in dju:ti, and you can take it with you. The amount of the duty ənd ju: kən teik it wið ju:. ði ə'maunt əv ðə dju:ti is £ 10/9/6, and I will write out the cheque iz ten paundz nain ənd siks, ənd ai wil rait aut ðə tʃek at once. You will remember, of course, to get a receipt ət wʌns. ju: wil ri'membə, əv kɔ:s, tə get ə ri'si:t make out = understand

We need the goods badly = we need the goods very much.

cheque

receipt far the most important is wheat, because most of the fə: ðə moust im'pɔ:tənt iz hwi:t, bi'kɒz moust əv ðə bread eaten in England is white bread. However, we bred i:tn in inglənd iz hwait bred. hau'evə, wi:

don't produce enough wheat in England for our own dəʊnt prə'dju:s i'nʌf hwi:t in inglənd fə əuər oun supply, and although there is such a lot stored here, sə'plai, ənd ɔ:l'dəu ðəz sʌtʃ ə lɒt stɔ:d hiə, it is not enough to supply the country with white bread it iz nɒt i'nʌf tə sə'plai ðə kəntri wið hwait bred for more than a month. Other countries have supplied fə mɔ: ðən ə mʌnθ. ʌðə kəntriz həv sə'plaɪd us with the greater part of our wheat for the last ʌs wið ðə greɪtə pɑ:t əv əuə hwi:t fə ðə lɑ:st hundred years. At one time England was a country hʌndrəd jɪəz. ət wʌn taɪm inglənd wəz ə kəntri with many farms and farmers, and as in those days wið meni fɑ:mz ənd fɑ:məz, ənd əz in ðəʊz deɪz there was more than enough wheat, we used to export ðeə wəz mɔ: ðən i'nʌf hwi:t, wi: ju:st tu eks'pɔ:t wheat to other countries. Then the rise of industries hwi:t tu ʌðə kəntriz. ðen ðə raɪz əv ɪndəstrɪz using a lot of machinery suddenly changed the whole ju:zɪŋ ə lɒt əv mə'ʃi:nəri sʌdnli tʃeɪndʒd ðə haʊl picture, and one factory was built after another, so that pɪktʃə, ənd wʌn fæktəri wəz bɪlt ɑ:ftər ə'nʌðə, səʊ ðæt in our days England is most interested in her industries.

ɪn əuə deɪz inglənd iz mɔ:st ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn hə:r ɪndəstrɪz.

industry = the system of producing goods with the help of machines machinery = machines woollen (here) = wool

rat

He feeds, he fed, he has fed [fi:dz, fed, fed].

The coal, steel, iron, cotton, and woollen industries are ðə koul, sti:l, aɪən, kɒtn, and wulin ɪndəstri:z a:

by far the most important. I will now take you to a baɪ fa: ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt. aɪ wɪl naʊ teɪk ju: tu ə building that will, no doubt, interest you very much. bɪldɪŋ ðət wɪl, nəʊ daʊt, ɪn'trɪst ju: veri mʌtʃ.

In it we store the many different articles that come ɪn ɪt wi: stɔ: ðə meni dɪfrənt ɑ:tɪklz ðət kʌm from the East."

frəm ði i:st."

As soon as they entered the building, Storm saw five əz su:n əz ðeɪ entəd ðə bɪldɪŋ, stɔ:m sɔ: faɪv or six cats and asked the man what they wanted cats ə sɪks kæts ænd ɑ:skt ðə mæn hwɒt ðeɪ wɒntɪd kæts for. "These are very special cats — our fellow-workers, fɔ:. "ði:z a: veri spɛʃəl kæts — ɑʊə fəluuwə:kəz, so to speak," his guide explained. "The buildings here səʊ tə spi:k," hɪz gaɪd ɪks'pleɪnd. "ðə bɪldɪŋz hɪə are all full of rats, and it is the duty of the cats to ɑ: ɔ:l ful əv ræts, ænd ɪt ɪz ðə dju:ti əv ðə kæts tə catch and eat the rats. We feed them once a day on kætʃ ænd ɪ:t ðə ræts. wi: fi:d ðəm wʌns ə ðeɪ ɔn fresh meat, not very much, of course, but just enough fref mi:t, nɒt veri mʌtʃ, əv kɔ:s, bʌt dʒʌst ɪ'nʌf to make them feel that they belong to us. For the rest, tə meɪk ðəm fi:l ðət ðeɪ bi'lɒŋ tu ʌs. fə ðə rest, they must catch rats, and as they all look nice and well ðeɪ mʌst kætʃ ræts, ænd əz ðeɪ ɔ:l lʊk naɪs ænd wel fed, it seems that they are doing their work properly. fed, it si:mz ðæt ðei a: du:ɪŋ ðeə wə:k prɒpəli.

Some of the rats are very big and will sometimes even səm əv ðə ræts a: veri big ənd wɪl sʌmtaɪmz i:vən bite a man's leg. I was bitten by a rat once myself — bait ə mænz leg. aɪ wəz bitn baɪ ə ræt wʌns maɪself — a very unpleasant experience, I can tell you.” ə veri ʌn'pleznt ɪks'piəriəns, aɪ kən tel ju:.”

Storm saw a man standing in front of a large box with stɔ:m sɔ: ə mæn stændɪŋ ɪn frʌnt əv ə la:dʒ bɒks wɪð a hammer in his hand. He was using the hammer to ə hæmər ɪn hɪz hænd. hi: wəz ju:zɪŋ ðə hæmə tu open the box, on one of the sides of which were some əʊpən ðə bɒks, ɒn wʌn əv ðə saɪdz əv hwɪtʃ wə: səm very strange marks. Storm could not understand the veri streɪndʒ mɑ:kz. stɔ:m kəd nɒt ʌndə'stænd ðə meaning of the marks, but was told that the box had mi:nɪŋ əv ðə mɑ:kz, bət wəz təʊld ðæt ðə bɒks həd come from the East, and that the marks must be in kʌm frəm ði i:st, ənd ðæt ðə mɑ:kz mʌst bi: ɪn some strange eastern language. This man had worked səm streɪndʒ i:stən læŋgwɪdʒ. ðɪs mæn həd wə:kɪt there for twenty-five years and knew almost all that ðeə fə twenti'faɪv jɪəz ənd nju: ɔ:l'mʌst ɔ:l ðæt could be known about articles from the East; he was kəd bi: nəʊn ə'baut a:tɪklz frəm ði i:st; hi: wəz an expert at his work. There were a number of other ən ɛkspə:t ət hɪz wə:k. ðeə wə:r ə nʌmbər əv ʌðə

He bites, he bit, he has bitten [baitz, bit, bitn].

hammer

marks

an expert = a man of great experience in his work through which he could see some lorries and also a pru: hwɪtʃ hi: kəd si: səm lɒrɪz ænd ɔ:lsəʊ ə horse and cart. Porters were busy taking goods to the hɔ:s ænd kɑ:t. pɔ:təz wə: bɪzi teɪkɪŋ ɡʊdʒ tə ðə doors, where the lorries and carts were being loaded. dɔ:z, hwæə ðə lɒrɪz ænd kɑ:ts wə: bi:ɪŋ laʊdɪd.

Storm watched the porters at work for some minutes stɔ:m wɒtʃt ðə pɔ:təz ət wə:k fə səm mɪnɪts and then spoke to one of them, saying that it must be ænd ðen spəʊk tə wʌn əv ðəm, seɪɪŋ ðæt ɪt mʌst bi:

hard work. "Yes, indeed it is, sir," the porter replied.
hɑ:d wə:k. "jes, ɪn'di:d ɪt ɪz, sə:," ðə pɔ:tə rɪ'plaɪd.

"And if I had one pound in money for every pound I "ænd ɪf aɪ həd wʌn paʊnd ɪn mʌni fə evri paʊnd aɪ have loaded in weight, I should be a very rich man!" hæv laʊdɪd ɪn weɪt, aɪ ʃəd bi: ə veri rɪʃ mæn!"

Storm's new friend now offered to show him down to stɔ:mz nju: frend naʊ ɔ:fəd tə ʃəʊ hɪm daʊn tə the ship that he wanted to visit. On their way they ðə ʃɪp ðæt hi: wɒntɪd tə vɪzɪt. ɔn ðeə wei ðeɪ saw a boat full of coal leaving the harbour. Storm: "The sɔ: ə bəʊt fʊl əv kəʊl li:vɪŋ ðə hɑ:bə. stɔ:m: "ðə ship is just as dirty and black as the coal itself." "Yes, ʃɪp ɪz dʒɒst əz dɑ:tɪ ænd blæk əz ðə kəʊl ɪt'self." "jes, black is the right colour for a ship carrying coal." blæk ɪz ðə raɪt kʌlə fə ə ʃɪp kəriɪŋ kəʊl."

Storm: "Look, there are two small boats just in front stɔ:m: "lʊk, ðeə tu: smɔ:l bəʊts dʒɒst ɪn frʌnt load = put goods on indeed = really carrying coal = loaded with coal said, "We have now passed five or six ships, and on sed, "wi: həv nau pa:st faiv ə siks fips, ənd ɔn all of them one or two sailors have been painting. Have ɔ:l əv ðəm wʌn ə tu: seiləz həv bi:n peintiŋ. hæv sailors nothing else to do but to paint the sides of their seiləz nʌθiŋ els tə du: bət tə peint ðə saɪdz əv ðeə ships?" He called to the two sailors, asking them if fips?" hi: kɔ:ld tə ðə tu: seiləz, ɑ:skiŋ ðəm if the captain was on board. On hearing that he was, ðə kæptɪn wəz ɔn bɔ:d. ɔn hiəriŋ ðæt hi: wəz,

Storm said good-bye to his guide, and went on board.
stɔ:m sed gud'bai tə hi:z gaɪd, ənd went ɔn bɔ:d.

He found the captain standing with another officer of hi: faʊnd ðə kæptɪn stændiŋ wɪð ə'nʌðər ɔfisə əv the ship. When Storm had introduced himself, the ðə fɪp. hwen stɔ:m həd ɪntrə'dju:st him'self, ði officer walked away, and Storm began to tell the cap-ɔfisə wɔ:kt ə'weɪ, ənd stɔ:m bi'gæn tə tel ðə kæptain what the manager had said. The captain soon got tɪn hwɒt ðə mænɪdʒə həd sed. ðə kæptɪn su:n gɒt very angry and said to Storm, "I'm a man who has veri æŋgri ənd sed tə stɔ:m, "aɪm ə mæn hu: həz sailed all the oceans of the world, and yet your manager, seɪld ɔ:l ði ɒsfənz əv ðə wɜ:ld, ənd yet jɜ: mænɪdʒə, who sits in his office all day, sends me his foolish hu: sɪts ɪn hi:z ɔfis ɔ:l dei, sendz mi: hi:z fu:lɪʃ orders."

ɔ:dəz."

officer

ocean = sea foolish affair are perfectly pure! — Well, here we are fu:lɪʃ ə'feə a: pə:'fɪktli pjuə! — wel, hiə wi: a:r at the shop. You wait outside for me!" ət ðə ʃɒp. ju: weɪt 'aʊt'saɪd fɔ: mi:!"

A quarter of an hour later Marshall appeared again at ə kwɔ:tər əv ən aʊə leɪtə mɑ:ʃəl ə'piəd ə'geɪn ət the door of the shop. He was smiling all over his face, ðə dɔ:ər əv ðə ʃɒp. hi: wəz smaɪlɪŋ ɔ:l ɒvə hɪz feɪs, so Storm could understand that everything had gone səʊ stɔ:m kəd ʌndə'stænd ðæt evrɪθɪŋ həd gɒn well. As soon as they had turned round the corner, wel. əz su:n əz ðeɪ həd tə:nd raʊnd ðə kɔ:nə,

Marshall had to stop and have a good laugh, before mɑ:ʃəl həd tə stɒp ænd hæv ə gud la:f, bɪ'fɔ:

he was able to tell Storm what had taken place in hi: wəz eɪbl tə tel stɔ:m hwət həd teɪkən pleɪs ɪn the shop.

ðə ʃɒp.

"First," Marshall said, "I told him my name was "fɜ:st," mɑ:ʃəl sed, "aɪ təʊld hɪm maɪ neɪm wəz

Reginald Willoughby, just returned from India, where redʒɪnəld wɪləʊbi, dʒʌst rɪ'tɔ:nd frəm ɪndjə, hwɛər

I had been hunting lions, or whatever it is one hunts aɪ həd bi:n haʊntɪŋ laɪənz, ɔ: hwɒt'evər ɪt ɪz wʌn haʊnts in India. There are lions in India, aren't there? This ɪn ɪndjə. ðeər a: laɪənz ɪn ɪndjə, a:nt ðeə? ðɪs seemed to make a deep impression upon him, especially si:məd tə meɪk ə di:p ɪm'presən ə'pɒn hɪm, ɪs'peʃəli lion

I came to England; my clothes don't fit me any longer. ai keim tu ɪŋɡlənd; mai kləʊðz daʊnt fiː miː ɛni lɔŋɡə.

Another reason is that the manager has invited me to ə'nʌðə riːzn ɪz ðæt ðə mænɪdʒə hæz ɪn'vɪtaɪd miː tə dinner at his home in a month's time, and I should dɪnər ət hɪz haʊm ɪn ə mʌnθs taɪm, ænd ai ʃəd like to look my best that evening, in a really well-fitting laɪk tə lʊk mai best ðæt iːvənɪŋ, ɪn ə riəlɪ wɛlfɪtɪŋ suit." "Oh, I see!" replied Marshall. "You want to sjuːt." "ou, ai siː!" rɪ'plaid mɑːʃəl. "juː wɒnt tə shine before the weaker sex in the person of Marion. ʃaɪn bɪ'fɔː ðə wiːkə seks ɪn ðə pəːsn əv mæriən.

The old story of the stronger sex trying to make an ði ould stɔːri əv ðə strɒŋɡə seks traɪɪŋ tə meɪk ən impression on the weaker sex! But I thought the ɪm'preʃən ɒn ðə wiːkə seks! bət ai þɔːt ðə dinner was going to be a big affair with all the guests dɪnə wəz ɡəʊɪŋ tə biː ə bɪɡ ə'feə wɪð ɔːl ðə ɡests in dinner-jackets?" "No, it's just a small dinner-party ɪn dɪnədʒæktɪts?" "nəʊ, ɪts dʒʌst ə smɔːl dɪnəpɑːtɪ with only the family and two or three guests, so no wɪð ɒnli ðə fæmɪli ænd tuː ə ˈpriː ɡests, səʊ nəʊ stand-up collar will be necessary. I don't like stiff 'stænd'ʌp kɒlə wɪl biː nesɪsəri. ai daʊnt laɪk stɪf collars. Not only are they so stiff that I can hardly kɒləz. nɒt ɒnli aː ðeɪ səʊ stɪf ðæt ai kən hɑːdli turn my head, but I feel that my whole body gets stiff tɜːn mai hed, bət ai fiːl ðæt mai haʊl bɔːdi ɡets stɪf sex

There are two sexes, men and women.

stand-up collar

spot = place

It hurts, it hurt, it has hurt [hə:ts, hə:t, hə:t].

natural = normal the voice of a girl crying for help. They ran to the ðə vɔɪs əv ə ɡə:l kraiɪŋ fə help. ðeɪ rʌn tə ðə spot as fast as they could and found the girl lying in spɒt əz fɑ:st əz ðeɪ kud ənd faʊnd ðə ɡə:l laɪɪŋ ɪn front of the bus, while the bus-driver was getting frʌnt əv ðə bʌs, hwaɪl ðə bʌsdraɪvə wəz ɡetɪŋ down. The bicycle had been smashed. They could daʊn. ðə baɪsɪkl həd bi:n smæʃt. ðeɪ kəd see that the girl was hurt, for her left knee was wet si: ðæt ðə ɡə:l wəz hə:t, fə hə: left ni: wəz wet with blood, which was beginning to run down her wɪð blʌd, hwɪtʃ wəz bi'ɡɪnɪŋ tə rʌn daʊn hə:

stocking, making it quite red. "She's very pale, and stɒkɪŋ, meɪkɪŋ ɪt kwaɪt red. "ʃi:z veri peɪl, ənd as far as I can see, her knee is rather badly hurt," əz fɑ:r əz aɪ kən si:, hə: ni: ɪz rə:ðə bædli hə:t," Marshall said to Storm in a low voice. They both mɑ:ʃəl sed tə stɔ:m ɪn ə lou vɔɪs. ðeɪ boʊθ noticed that the natural colour had gone from the girl's nəʊtɪst ðæt ðə nætʃərəl kʌlə həd ɡɒn frəm ðə ɡə:lz face. "Something must be the matter with her head, feɪs. "sʌmʃɪŋ mʌst bi: ðə mətə wɪð hə: hed, too, for she's holding her hand to it as if in pain," tu:, fə ʃi:z həʊldɪŋ hə: hænd tu ɪt əz ɪf ɪn peɪn," Storm said. Marshall now helped the bus-driver to stɔ:m sed. mɑ:ʃəl naʊ helpt ðə bʌsdraɪvə tə lift the girl up from the ground, and then he asked lɪft ðə ɡə:l ʌp frəm ðə ɡraʊnd, ənd ðen hi: ɑ:skt better have a policeman look into what has happened, betə hæv ə pə'li:smən luk intə hwɒt həz hæpnd, too." Storm: "Then I'll try to get one, instead of tu: stɔ:m: "ðen ail trai tə get wʌn, in'sted əv going with my friend and the young lady." gəʊɪŋ wið mai frend ənd ðə jʌŋ leɪdi."

Marshall and the girl now left, and Storm went for a ma:ʃəl ənd ðə gɜ:l nʌw left, ənd stɔ:m went fɔr ə policeman. And he had only walked five or six steps pə'li:smən. ənd hi: həd ʌnli wɔ:kt faɪv ə sɪks steɪps when suddenly one appeared. Storm told him what hwɛn sʌdnli wʌn ə'piəd. stɔ:m təʊld him hwɒt he knew about the accident, pointing towards the spot hi: nju: ə'baut ði æksɪdənt, pɔɪntɪŋ tə'wɔ:dz ðə spɒt where it had happened. The policeman wrote it all hwɛər it həd hæpnd. ðə pə'li:smən raɪt it ɔ:l down, after which he asked the bus-driver, "How did daʊn, a:ftə hwɪtʃ hi: ɑ:skt ðə bʌsdraɪvə, "haʊ dɪd the accident happen?" Bus-driver: "All I can tell ði æksɪdənt hæpən?" bʌsdraɪvə: "ɔ:l aɪ kən tel you is that suddenly I saw a girl on a bicycle crossing ju: ɪz ðæt sʌdnli aɪ sɔ: ə gɜ:l ɔn ə baɪsaɪkl krɒsɪŋ the street in front of the bus. Before I could stop, ðə stri:t ɪn frʌnt əv ðə bʌs. bɪ'fɔ:r aɪ kəd stɒp, the accident had happened. She was pushed over by ði æksɪdənt həd hæpnd. ʃi: wəz puʃt ɒvə baɪ the bus, but wasn't run over, and that, I think, was ðə bʌs, bət wɔznt rʌn ɒvə, ənd ðæt, aɪ θɪŋk, wəz pushed over = pushed so that she fell down